

Delegates Won By Eisenhower In Connecticut

HARTFORD, Conn. — (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's backers in Connecticut won all 22 of the state's Republican national convention delegates today. They beat off a brief last-minute effort by supporters of Sen. Robert A. Taft to elect two delegates favorable to him.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. — (AP) — The majority of Missouri's 42 delegates to the national Democratic nominating convention apparently is waiting for guidance from President Truman.

Mr. Truman himself was among the uninstructed delegates elected yesterday to cast the state's 34 votes at the July convention in Chicago.

Only ten delegates indicated a preference for the presidential nomination. The others remained uncommitted, obviously waiting to see what Mr. Truman wants them to do.

The President was elected one of 16 delegates at large from his home state, but an alternate will cast his half vote since he does not plan to go to the convention until after the presidential candidate is nominated.

MIAMI, Fla. — (AP) — Florida's 24 delegates to the Democratic national convention were the big prize today in the presidential hopes of Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

More than 500,000 voters in this state's second primary were expected to make their choices from a scrambled list of 84 candidates on which 26 were pledged to Kefauver and 41 were pledged to Russell. Fifteen others were unpledged.

In addition, one candidate was pledged to support Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and another to Gen. Douglas MacArthur—both Republicans.

War Prisoners Cowed At Koje

By WILLIAM JORDEN
KOJE ISLAND, Korea — (AP) — Tough Communist prisoners of war in Compound 95—scene of April 10 rioting—were reported ready to come to terms with Gen. Haydon L. Boatner today.

Red leaders of the 6,000 POWs in 95 told the new commander of this United Nations No. 1 prison camp they were ready to obey his orders. But they asked to meet with him.

Informed sources said Boatner replied that the Reds first must comply with certain terms before he would talk with them. He sent Col. Maurice J. Fitzpatrick, former commander of the camp, to confer with the Reds.

Fitzpatrick reportedly told the Red leaders they would have to deliver for burial the bodies of an estimated eight POWs killed in the riot six weeks ago.

Fitzpatrick's only comment was that the prisoners then made a lot of "wild demands." He did not elaborate.

Boatner's headquarters announced that stiff disciplinary action had been taken against an American soldier who yesterday walked into one of the compounds in direct disobedience of orders. The soldier's immediate superior also was rebuked. Names of the men involved were not announced.

New Strike Of CIO Threatens To Idle 100,000 At Ford Co.

DETROIT — (AP) — A possible strike which might idle 100,000 Ford Motor Company workers was threatened today by the CIO United Auto Workers.

The union's International Executive board approved the unanimous strike vote taken by Local 400, whose 6,200 members work in Ford's Highland Park plant.

The dispute centers about union charges that men in the Highland Park paint spraying department had their relief time cut.

While a walkout would only directly involve the Highland Park workers, it would immediately halt all tractor production and in a matter of days could close down Ford's assembly lines across the country.

The plant is the main supplier of trim for Ford cars, is the sole manufacturing place for Ford tractors and produces most of the Ford trucks sold in this area.

Pact Signed To Pool Million Men In Europe Defense Army

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

PARIS — (AP) — The Big Three Powers backed up the six-nation European army pact today with a new declaration that they would consider a Communist attack on Berlin, West Germany or any other part of free Europe a "threat to their own security."

The declaration was coincident with the ceremonial signing of the army pact and related agreements by France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg which, ratified, will merge their armed forces into a single army of one million men—history's first peacetime international force.

Assist Each Other

The pact is a companion to the peace treaty signed at Bonn yesterday by the three Western Powers and the West German Republic.

In addition, the members of NATO and the European army signed protocols pledging each organization to come to the help of the other in the event of armed attack—a guarantee chiefly to West Germany since the others are covered by the Atlantic Alliance. Optimists hope the European army treaty will be ratified by the end of this year. When—and if—it is, Germany will start building a force of some 400,000 soldiers, sailors and airmen for the six-nation command.

Divisions Streamlined

The treaty envisages an army of about 41 streamlined divisions—it calls them combat groups—of some 13,000 men each, service and supply troops, and air and naval units. Its sponsors hope it will be ready for action by the end of 1954.

This army will be run by a commissariat of nine members from the six member nations, under the supervision of a council of cabinet ministers and an assembly of elected representatives.

The treaty anticipates this supply of combat groups: France 14, West Germany 12, Italy 9, Belgium and Luxembourg 3, and Holland 3. Each nation is to contribute to an air force that will provide mainly tactical support for the ground troops.

The groups are to be allotted in corps of three groups each, but with no more than two in any corps of the same nationality. That is to guarantee that it all will be international.

Roads To Berlin Blockaded Again

BERLIN — (AP) — United States authorities said today that Russian sentries at both ends of the express highway linking Berlin to the West had refused to let Allied motor patrols through this morning.

The action came in the wake of an order by East Germany's Communist government for immediate "strengthening" of its forces all along the border between East and West Germany.

Apprehensive West Berlin feared a repetition of the Communist blockade which all but paralyzed the former German capital in 1948-49.

Civilian and passenger traffic to and from the West was reported still flowing normally this morning, however.

The Reds have threatened in take stiff measures in retaliation against yesterday's signing of a peace contract binding West Germany to the Allies.

The motor patrol travels the 110-mile Berlin-Helmstedt Autobahn, sole highway link between isolated Berlin and the West, to help stranded motorists.

Government Asked To Provide Tourist Boat To Isle Royale

LANSING — (AP) — Governor Williams proposed today that the federal government provide passenger service for tourists from the mainland to Isle Royale.

In a letter to Secretary of the Interior Chapman, Williams said there is now no adequate transportation to the island.

"He said the National Park Service has 'provided, at no little expense, roads of access to other parks but little or nothing is being done by the park service to facilitate transportation to Isle Royale. This is indeed a serious problem to the million or so tourists who visit this area each year."

President Of Wayne Goes To New York U.

DETROIT — (AP) — Dr. David D. Henry, president of Wayne University since 1945, disclosed today he has accepted the post of executive vice chancellor of New York University.

The 46-year-old educator had served at Wayne for 16 years. He was assistant to the executive vice president from 1936 to 1939, executive vice president from 1939 to 1945 and president since 1945. Dr. Henry told members of the Detroit board of education he would submit his formal resignation to them on June 10.

Demand For 161 More Guards Is Cut Down To 37

LANSING — (AP) — The Senate got out its axe today and planned by nightfall, to cut 75 per cent off Governor Williams' demands for more prison guards and 30 per cent off his request for money to repair riot-torn Southern Michigan prison.

The chamber will vote this afternoon on a drastically-reduced prison appropriation bill drafted by the Senate appropriations committee after 10 days of hearings.

$400,000 For Repairs

The bill will provide $368,750 for 37 more guards in the entire prison system rather than the $1,273,391 for 161 more guards asked by Williams.

It will provide $250,000 in state fire fund money to be added to $150,000 already released to repair the fire and mutiny damage at the prison. Williams asked for $678,299 to deal with $1,091,000 worth of riot damage.

The committee bill would give the still-troubled Southern Michigan prison 16 more men for a specially armed and trained riot squad and 12 additional guards. The prison and Williams asked for 122 more.

Four For Marquette

The bill would give Ionia Reformatory five additional guards, instead of the 20 asked, and Marquette Branch Prison four more, rather than the 19 asked.

A supplemental appropriation included in the total, members said, makes it unnecessary for the prisons to dismiss any present guards as they had been required to do under the previous appropriation.

The reconstruction money is specifically granted to Warden Julian N. Frisbie of Southern Michigan Prison with the demand that he use as much prison labor as possible. Williams wants to use contract labor.

Committeemen said the big prison is not as bad off as the figures might indicate. Including the additional guards proposed and the additional prison camp guards previously allowed, Southern Michigan Prison will have 808 guards next year, they said, compared to 750 now.

Discord Grows In South Korea

PUSAN, Korea — (AP) — Gen. James A. Van Fleet, commander of the U. S. Eighth Army, sped here from Seoul today and went into immediate conference with President Syngman Rhee on the South Korean executive's declaration of martial law.

American embassy officials sat in on the meeting. Just before the session began, Rhee issued a long-awaited public statement explaining why he proclaimed martial law in Pusan, the temporary capital, and 21 counties in three southernmost provinces.

He said his action—"necessary and long overdue"—was forced by increasing guerrilla activities in the region and was taken to prevent public demonstrations from becoming violent.

"American soldiers have been ambushed and killed in the very vicinity of Pusan," he said. This was a reference to the slaying of five U. S. soldiers by guerrillas Friday in a gravel pit at Tongnae, eight miles north of Pusan.

"Far reaching Communist connections have been uncovered and the authorities are taking steps to make a thorough investigation of the case," the president said.

This presumably referred to reports that Communists had sent money into South Korea to foment discord.

School Teacher Loses 88 Pounds In Army

WITH U. S. 45th DIVISION, Korea — (AP) — Cpl. Herb Tittle Jr., 24, a high school teacher from Dumont, N. J., weighed 263 pounds when he entered the army. Nineteen months of training in the United States and Japan and duty in Korea have slimmed him down to a fashionable 175 pounds.

Ford Exploration For Ore Urged In Upper Peninsula

LANSING — (AP) — A resolution calling on the Ford Motor Co. to explore its extensive Upper Peninsula holdings for iron ore was passed by the House last night.

The resolution, sponsored by Rep. James Goulette (R-Iron Mountain), said the move could help relieve unemployment in the Iron Mountain-Kingsford area caused by the firing of 1,800 workers when Ford closed its assembly plant there.

The company "owes a certain degree of loyalty to the people and communities which made it possible to develop its holdings in this area," Goulette said.

New Attorney General Moves Into Hot Seat

By KARL R. BAUMAN

WASHINGTON — (AP) — James P. McGranery took office today as attorney general and said wrongdoers will be prosecuted wherever they may be found.

McGranery told reporters shortly after he was sworn in that he could not discuss specific cases but said it makes no difference where corruption is found.

This was in response to a reporter's question as to whether he might launch a drive on corruption which could include Congress.

He replied that those who violate the law will be prosecuted no matter where they are, adding: "If they violate the law that's their responsibility."

McGranery announced two actions in his clean-up campaign: 1. He ordered all Department of Justice division heads to prepare forthwith a report on the entire situation in each division with specific recommendations with

Ridgway Arrives In Paris To Take NATO Command

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON

PARIS — (AP) — Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway returned to Europe today to take command of NATO fighting forces and declared his experience in Korea convinced him a sound defense against communism here could be built from a combination of many nations.

Then, accompanied by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower whom he is to succeed three days hence, he drove through the streets of Paris in contempt of Communist threats to stage hostile demonstrations against "Le General Microbe" as they call him. The Communists have applied the tag as part of their propaganda, repeatedly denied by the West, that the United Nations used germ warfare in Korea.

Ridgway stepped out of his plane at Orly Field just 10 days short of eight years after he parachuted into Normandy on D-Day.

Gen. Eisenhower was at the airport to greet the man who will relieve him as supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty organization forces on Friday. Also there were several other officials, including French Defense Minister Rene Pleven, U. S. Ambassador James C. Dunn and many officers from SHAPE, the Eisenhower headquarters.

The field was almost black with French police determined to snuff out any Communist demonstration.

Son Clutches Dog

Mrs. Ridgway stepped out of the plane with her husband. An aide followed them, carrying Matt, four-year-old son of the general. The child clasped a brown and tan stuffed dog.

"I have utmost confidence in the leadership of Gen. Eisenhower and I expect to learn about the problems first hand as he sees them," Ridgway told newsmen.

"If I am able to add anything to what he has done I shall be pleased indeed."

Asked if he expected any military action from the Russians, he replied, "anything which is a capability is always a possibility. There is great capability there. I would not want to go any farther."

News Not Good

As Ridgway landed the Berlin news was disquieting. The Russians snapped off telephone service between East and West Berlin, stopped service on eight telephone and telegraph lines between East and West Germany, and again stopped Allied jeep patrols from cruising the autobahn which links the city with the West. They also ordered reinforced border guards along the Iron Curtain splitting Germany.

But this also was the day Western statesmen had assembled in Paris to mark a big step in integrating West German troops into their defenses—the signing of the treaty creating a six-nation European army.

Foreign Aid Budget Trimmers Helping Reds, Says Truman

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman has accused budget slashers in the House of doing "their bit to help the Communist side."

The President declared in a speech last night that cuts in defense spending were "a foolish, reckless act" which may force a sharp reduction in U. S. armed forces in an hour of peril.

He expressed hope that Vice President Barkley will be able to persuade the Senate to restore House cuts in both the defense and foreign aid programs and that the peace effort "will not be wrecked for political purposes."

Honored By Israel

The President chose a dinner last night commemorating the completion of a colony in Israel named for him—Kfar Truman—for a bitter assault on the House. It recently reduced his defense recommendations from around 51 billion dollars to 46 billion and the mutual security program from $7,900,000,000 to $6,163,000,000 last Friday.

Truman spoke after receiving a scroll from the Jewish National Fund for his support of independent Israel and the cause of peace.

The President said of the House cut in armed services funds: "This was a foolish, reckless act. It jeopardizes our defense buildup. It may require us—in this hour of peril—to demobilize a substantial part of our armed forces. Think of that."

Two Danger Spots

The President declared: "There are some people who would rather play politics than give strong defenses—they would rather embarrass the White House than to checkmate the Kremlin."

He added: "The majority of the House picked the two places in the world where the danger is greatest (Europe and Asia), where the Communist threat is strongest, and they did their bit to help the Communist side."

He said the reductions in aid to Europe would mean that the Allies would not be able to raise and equip forces needed to defend the West against Soviet power.

The action, he said, undermines the work of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and the position of Gen. Matthew Ridgway, Eisenhower's successor as Allied defense chief in Europe.

Duke Back In England To Visit Mother, 85

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. — (AP) — The Duke of Windsor returned to England today for another visit with his mother, 85-year-old Queen Mary. He arrived the day after her birthday.

The Duke arrived on the liner Queen Elizabeth. His wife, for whom he gave up the throne in 1936, left the ship a few hours earlier when it stopped at Cherbourg, France.

The twice-divorced, American-born Duchess has never been accepted by the British Royal family. The Duke will rejoin her later in France.

Guerrillas Kill Five Americans In Korean Raid

By STAN CARTER

TONGNAE, Korea — (AP) — About 30 guerrillas overran a small U. S. Army camp here Friday, killing five American soldiers and a Korean houseboy.

Two other Americans were wounded, and two escaped injury. Survivors said it was a well-planned Red raid to obtain weapons.

The guerrillas got two .30 caliber machineguns, 2,000 rounds of ammunition and seven rifles.

The small American force was stationed in a gravel pit here, about eight miles north of Pusan.

The guerrillas, armed with U. S. rifles, attacked without warning about 12:30 a. m. The fighting was heard at a U. N. hospital for prisoners of war. A jeepload of Americans and South Korean police, summoned by one of the two uninjured survivors, arrived at the burning camp at 2 a. m.

Building Plans Being Studied

Detailed plans for a 60-foot extension of the exhibition building at the U. P. state fairgrounds and a list of building materials required for the project have been submitted to the state building division, John MacInnis, secretary-manager of the U. P. fair, reported yesterday.

It is expected that the proposal to lengthen the building to provide more space for educational and industrial exhibits and to make the floor space conform to regulation ice rink size will be considered by the state administrative board at its next meeting June 3.

MacInnis said he and Einar Erlandsen, of Escanaba, state representative, conferred with Frank G. Millard, state attorney general; Irving Feldman, state deputy attorney general; Dr. Robert F. Steadman, state budget director, and with representatives of A. N. Langius, state building director, on a recent visit to Lansing.

A bill authorizing the U. P. state fair board to lease the exhibition building and its proposed extension over a long period of time was introduced in the state senate by William Ellsworth, of St. Ignace, state senator.

"All officials in Lansing with whom we have discussed this project have expressed enthusiasm and pledged cooperation," Secretary MacInnis said.

"We have examined the plans for the work which you left here and although they were not complete in all details, I believe that a satisfactory addition can be constructed from them," Langius said in a letter received by MacInnis yesterday.

Plans and specifications for the proposed extension were prepared by civil engineers of the Escanaba plant of the Harnischfeger corporation and are as complete as possible at the present time.

Engineers of the state building division and Harnischfeger will confer later to complete all details. A state engineer will be here soon to inspect the exhibition building and the extension site.

Mother Of Small Boy Advertises In Paper And Gets Husband

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich.—(AP)—Mrs. Margaret Ealy Colteson, the mother of a small boy, is a firm believer in the adage "it pays to advertise."

Mrs. Colteson, then Mrs. Ealy, last November inserted a want ad into newspapers in this area.

The 40-year-old woman said she wanted a husband and a father for her small son, Jamie.

The ad paid off. Yesterday, she and her new husband, William Colteson, of Traverse City, formally announced their marriage. They were married in Munising.

Colteson, a 50-year-old veteran of World War Two, had a service connected disability. Mrs. Colteson said she hesitated at first to marry her husband—but she said he kept writing letters and sending flowers until she consented.

"I'm satisfied that he's a gentleman and will make a good husband," she said. "I believe he and Jamie are going to get along well, too."

Colteson, who has regained his health, said he will seek employment here. He was employed in Grand Rapids.

"L" OF A NOTE—John N. Green, of Chicago, puts up a big kick at what to him seems an intolerable situation. Elevated train service to his suburban neighborhood has been suspended, and he resents having to break a 30-year commuter's record. One suit has been filed in court by another irate ex-patron to force re-opening of the line.

Dr. Steadman's Tirade Against Michigan Press Lacks Logic

DR. ROBERT F. STEADMAN, state controller, talking to the Michigan State College chapter of the American Association of University Professors recently, charged that newspapers of Michigan are a "kept press" which deliberately distorts the facts.

"Deliberate distortion of facts in newspapers is shocking," Dr. Steadman said. "It is a form of corruption which leads to false promises by government officials."

"A kept press is a barrier between the people and the truth. I am referring to the press in Michigan," Dr. Steadman said.

The Michigan Press Association, of which the approximately 400 newspapers in Michigan are members, promptly wrote to Dr. Steadman with this query:

"What in the world are you talking

Reds Are Hollering In Empty Rain Barrell

FOR the most part the world propaganda campaign of the Communists on such matters as alleged germ warfare and mistreatment of prisoners in the Korean theater has proved a fiasco. The Reds are hollering in an empty rain barrel.

Reports from southeast Asia, where the manufacturers of the falsehoods would like to score most heavily, make it clear that these charges have had little effect so far.

The only people who are inclined to believe them are Communists, their sympathizers, and those who for one reason or another have a blind hatred of the United States and thus are willing to give credence to almost any story.

The great majority of Asiatics who can read and understand world events—and that total is small proportionately in the southeastern population—pay little heed nowadays to Communist ravings.

On the germ warfare question, Red refusal to allow investigation of North Korean zones, plus scientific evidence marshaled by the United Nations, has served to spike Communist propaganda.

As might have been expected, the Reds made more headway with their claims of prisoner mistreatment, largely because of the damaging statements of General Colson, who seemed to be admitting inhuman conduct on our part. Our case was not aided by the prisoners' capture of General Dodd. It cost us considerable "face" among the Southeast Asians.

Yet in spite of this harm suffered, we are not generally losing ground these days in the propaganda battle for non-Red areas of Asia. Quite the contrary. The best-informed Asiatics in lands like Indo-China, Burma, Thailand, Indonesia and India are becoming pretty fed up with Communist chatter.

Too many times they have been able to compare Red claims with Red refusal to have those claims investigated. Too many times the mere course of events has disproved outrageous charges.

The feeling is growing strong in Southeast Asia that the Reds are talking, but not performing. For many months now, they have made no significant new showing of power in that part of the world. In that circumstance, their words sound limp and flabby, and few non-Communists are disposed to accept them.

The Doctor Says... Survey Has Shown One Child In Forty Inherits Epilepsy

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. — Written for NEA Service

L. S. S. writes: "I have a brother who is epileptic, and I would like to know if there is a chance that my children may become epileptic. My question is, is epilepsy hereditary?"

This is a difficult question to answer, but a discussion should be of interest to many readers since epilepsy is by no means a rare disease.

Epilepsy is properly a true hereditary disease, that is, the tendency to develop epilepsy runs in families and is inherited by children from their parents.

But—and this is an important "but"—this does not mean that parents of children with epilepsy always have epilepsy themselves nor that the children of epileptics will always have the disease.

Because of the tendency to inheritance of epilepsy, however, the problem of marriage and childbearing is important and difficult.

About three-quarters of those who develop epilepsy show signs before they reach the usual marriageable age, so they will be in possession of the facts.

A decision on marriage and childbirth must be taken on an individual basis. It depends partly on how severe the convulsions are and how frequently they come.

Also, an instrument called the electroencephalograph, which measures the brain waves, is extremely useful.

In epilepsy these waves are different about? Would you kindly supply us with particulars. What is your proof?"

In appraising Dr. Steadman's tirade against the Michigan press, it is well to recall that the newspapers of Michigan carried a number of stories last winter referring to Dr. Steadman's difficulties with the Legislature, or to put it in another way, the Legislature's difficulties with Dr. Steadman. Some of these reports were not complimentary to Dr. Steadman and apparently the state controller is resentful.

As to the charges of a "kept press," it is, of course, utterly ridiculous to the point of stupidity. It is absolutely impossible for 400 newspapers, independently owned by liberals and conservatives, Republicans and Democrats, to be a "kept press" in the manner in which Dr. Steadman refers.

One statement of truth in Dr. Steadman's address at Michigan State College is, "A kept press is a barrier between the people and the truth." We agree with that statement completely and unreservedly. We see the truth of it every day in Argentina, in Moscow and the Red satellite nations. A kept press is not a free press and only a free press can bring the truth to the people.

A newspaper's strength lies in its accuracy of reporting, its fair approach to the news. Deliberate distortion of news, as Dr. Steadman charges in his blanket accusation of Michigan newspapers, would bring inevitable ruin to newspapers.

We suspect that it is fearless reporting of news without distortion to which Dr. Steadman objects, particularly when the news stories may be adverse to him or to his handling of state business.

U. P. SURVEY

(Marquette Mining Journal)

Fully recognizing the fact that we must know what we have before we can know what to do with it, we welcome representatives of the Michigan Department of Economic Development and the Ebasco Survey Services, who are starting a research-survey of the Upper Peninsula.

The purpose of this survey, as of others that have gone before it, is to determine, first, what are the natural and man-made resources of the Upper Peninsula and what can be done to develop them along business and industrial lines. It is hoped, meanwhile, that this survey—unlike some others that have gone before it—may ultimately produce something of substantial value and benefit to the Peninsula.

We shall hope, also, that this survey—unlike some that have gone before it—will emphasize the future potential of the region, rather than its disadvantages.

We hope the current delegation of researchers will talk less about the distance of Upper Michigan from the markets of the nation and more about how to shorten that distance in order to promote and develop the business of the Peninsula.

We hope, as the result of this survey, to hear less about the things we cannot do in competition with other areas and more about what we can do and how we can do it.

In other words, if the current survey produces nothing but reasons why the Upper Peninsula of Michigan cannot hope for a sound and thriving economy; or why it can not compete with other areas of the country and the world in the natural resources it has to offer; or why it must, in the last analysis, be marked off the map as both a geographic and economic loss—then it is better that the survey never be undertaken.

We are in the mood, just now, for a survey which will show us how to regain what we have lost, principally, in the way of employment and how the great natural resources in the Upper Peninsula can be turned into expanding industrial activity.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—This city has seen all sorts of lobbyists in its day, but seldom such a high-powered, high-level group as that now pulling wires to defeat the President's pending veto on tidelands oil.

Most significant thing about the lobby is that this time it's not being directed by the oil companies. The federal government has promised that oil company leases will be protected under federal operation, so the oil companies now don't care whether they pay royalties to the government or to the three states which are clamoring for tidelands oil—Texas, California and Louisiana. All the oil companies want is to have the dispute settled so they can get down to work.

But having created a Frankenstein, the oil companies are today unable to control it, with the result that such solons as Senator Holland of Florida and ex-Senator Downey of California have been pressuring them to stay in line.

Chief target of the lobby is the Senate. A mere handful of votes one way or the other will spell the difference between upholding or overriding the veto. So the lobbyists are trying to persuade certain senators who oppose tidelands oil to be absent. They don't ask them to reverse themselves and vote for tidelands oil; merely to be away from Washington and unable to vote.

Senators in this category are Magnuson of Washington who has been away; Kerr of Oklahoma who has promised to support the President if in Washington, but who is busy campaigning elsewhere; and Kefauver of Tennessee. Kefauver has wired Senate leader McFarland asking him to postpone a vote until June 3 when he can return from speaking commitments in California. Kefauver will support the President.

LOBBYIST ROLL CALL

Meanwhile here is the roll call of chief wire-pullers in the hot-and-heavy battle over tidelands oil:

Speaker Sam Rayburn has been spending almost as much time in the Senate as in his own House of Representatives. Loyal to the President, but on this issue even more loyal to Texas, Sam has been trying to persuade key senators to vote for Texas.

Ex-Senator Sheridan Downey of California earns $70,000 a year lobbying for Long Beach, Calif., which gets most of its revenue from the oil wells that jut out into the ocean along its waterfront. Downey has been busy as a bird dog buttonholing old colleagues, but so far has been careful to keep off the Senate floor.

William McAdam, former publicity man for Senator Taft, is paid $40,000 a year plus expenses by Long Beach to influence legislators. Recently a member of McAdam's office had the gall to phone the Senate Interior Committee and ask for a report on what had happened at a closed-door session on tidelands oil. The committee refused.

Governor Allan Shivers of Texas came to Washington both on tidelands oil and to mend his fences with certain Texas leaders in the capital. Shivers talked to his old Republican friend, Governor Val Peterson of Nebraska, and to the man Peterson appointed to the Senate, Fred Seaton, in order to change Seaton's vote. Later, Seaton, who previously voted against Texas and for the federal government, left for Europe.

However, Gov. Peterson, when asked about Seaton's departure, commented: "Seaton doesn't vote the way I want him to. He votes his own mind. He's been counting on this trip to Europe for some time. He's adopting two children in Germany and has flown over there with his wife to meet them."

"Wasn't your attorney general, Walter Johnson, the paid propagandist for tidelands oil lobby?" Peterson was asked.

"Johnson was my attorney general during the first two years I was governor, but I had nothing to do with his work for tidelands oil."

Gov. Peterson admitted that Gov. Shivers had talked both to him and Sen. Seaton about tidelands oil.

LONE STAR POLITICIAN

Those who talked with Texas' Governor Shivers during his visit in Washington got the impression that Allan was doing a little shivering about his re-election chances. Certainly he sang low and sweet compared with his old ideas about Lone Star political independence.

In conferences with Speaker Sam Rayburn, the governor was as meek as a little mouse. Likewise with Senator Lyndon Johnson, who always believes that a soft word turneth away wrath, and advised Shivers to act accordingly.

Red's 'Unshakable Logic' Bogs Peace Conference At Panmunjom

Oswald Jacoby, bridge and canasta expert, as Commander Jacoby, USNR, has just returned from Korea where he served for eight months on the staff of the UN peace delegation, mostly in connection with prisoner-of-war negotiations. Now on inactive status he tells for the first time the behind-the-scenes details in the truce tent at Panmunjom. This is the first of two articles.

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

NEW YORK — (NEA) — "Our position is unshakable because..." Here the enemy interpreter at the Korean peace talks bogged down. But not for long. "Because," he continued brightly, "it is unshakable."

Such irrefutable Communist logic is one of the things that has dragged out the proceedings at Panmunjom some 10 months now. I have returned after spending eight of those months there—plus another eight months in Japan—on duty with the U. S. Navy as a member of the peace delegation.

Here's another example of Red logic. On the big truce question of prisoners of war, we hold that they should be returned to their own side only if they wish to. The Communists insist they must be forced to return.

As a compromise, we suggested that all POW's from both sides be placed in a neutral compound at Panmunjom. Then they could go out one gate of the compound to our side, or take the other gate and go to the Communists.

The obvious fairness of this was too much for the enemy. Their only answer—and they repeated it day after day—was that the whole thing would be carried out under the force of our bayonets.

"How would there be coercion on our part?" we would ask.

"Your scheme of voluntary repatriation is to detain our people at bayonet point," was their answer. No details were given on how we could bring our bayonet points into play through the walls of a compound.

The truth of the matter is, the only time we would have to use bayonets would be to force many of our prisoners to go back to the North Korean or Chinese Communist forces. They'd rather be where they are.

Furthermore, we hold about 20,000 so-called Chinese volunteers in our POW camps. About three-quarters of them claim to be Nationalists and want to be sent to Chiang Kai-shek's forces on Formosa. Anywhere but to Communist China.

The truce talks are not without their funny moments. One of the enemy's subdelegates was a Chinese colonel named Tsai whose voice, when he got excited, rose to an actual scream.

Rear Adm. R. E. Libby, our delegate in charge of prisoner-of-war discussions, finally had about as much of the intermittent screams as he could stand. From then on, he said, he was going to have the man interpreting Tsai's remarks scream at every point where Tsai had screamed. I don't think Adm. Libby carried out his threat, but it seemed to me Tsai screamed less after that.

It must be remembered that an important part of every enemy move is to produce favorable propaganda for home consumption. Thus we find the Chinese and North Koreans making proposals at the truce talks which sound good back home but which are completely unfair and unreasonable.

For instance, they wanted the line of demarcation for the armistice to be set at the 38th Parallel. We said it should be the battle line. We were then across the 38th parallel as much as 50 miles for four-fifths of its length across Korea.

The enemy was across only 15 or 20 miles for one-fifth of its distance. After five months of wrangling, during which the enemy made the most of its stand propaganda-wise, they agreed to our proposal and the demarcation line was made along the battle-front.

Another big snag in the peace talks is that often the same words or phrase just doesn't mean the same thing to the enemy as it does to us. One of these is freedom of the press.

One day Adm. Libby slammed into the enemy's "controlled radio." Gen. Lee Sang Jo, Adm. Libby's North Korean opponent, hit the ceiling.

"Only in your country is press and radio controlled and censored," he stormed. "Our press and radio are not controlled at all. Our newspapers write the truth without censorship. Our radio men talk without censorship. There is no censorship of press or radio in the North Korean Peoples' Republic."

The point here is, of course, that there need be no censorship of the blue pencil variety when the editor of a newspaper knows that anytime he prints something the government doesn't like, he and his family will probably be dead within a week. And for the same reason, the broadcaster knows he had better be right or else.

NOQUET: ITS MEANING—Delta county, like a protecting glove of land, slips down over the extended fingers of Little and Big Bays de Noc.

Most of the larger communities of the county are located on or near the shores of these bays. They have figured largely in the history of the county's settlement, providing important waterways for transportation and development of the area.

Yet to most of the county's population the meaning of name of the bays is not known.

To one person, Mrs. George Jensen of Escanaba, a director of the Delta County Historical Society, the derivation of the name was a challenge. She determined, so far as possible, to find out the meaning of Bays de Noc and how they received their name.

FROM THE INDIAN—To this end she wrote numerous letters to museums, libraries, and to authorities in the field of Michigan history. The answers confirm what had already been assumed—that Noc (also spelled Noquet)—is originally from the Indian.

An inquiry to Michigan State Library, Lansing, brought an answer quoting the late Rev. William F. Gagnier, S. J., missionary to the Indians and an authority on Indian names. In 1918 Fr. Gagnier was author of "Indian Place Names in the Upper Peninsula" which appeared in Michigan History magazine.

"Taking as a starting point that 'Bay de Noc' is a contraction of 'Baie de Noquet,' we have it that 'Noquet' was a name by which a subtitle (of the Menominees) was known to the first Frenchmen who visited these waters," Fr. Gagnier writes.

Tracing the derivation of the name and its use by the Indians, Fr. Gagnier concludes:

"Finally Nanokay or Nokay, called today in Menominee 'Owassee,' or in Ojibway 'Makwa,' is none other than the Bear. So that Bay de Noquet or Bay de Noc is the bay of the Nokays, the subtitle whose name or totem was the bear."

OF MANY SPELLINGS — Through the centuries there have been many spellings of the name by explorers, missionaries and historians. Following are some of the recorded spellings:

Noka, Nokig, Noke, Nikie, Nocke, Noquets, Nokes, Nokets, Noquai, Noquetz, Noukek, and Noquet.

Today it is generally accepted as Bay de Noc and is so spelled on maps. That difference of opinion in spelling and pronunciation still exist is found in the choice by state and county map-makers.

On the Delta county road commission map it is Bay de Noc; while the Michigan State Highway Department map presents it as Bay de Noquet. There appears to be no historical authority for the 'Noc' spelling.

WHO THEY WERE — Frederick Webb Hodge, author of "Handbook of the American Indians North of Mexico," published in 1912, describes the Nokes or Noquets as:

"An Algonquian tribe located by the earliest French writers about Noquet bay at the mouth of Green bay, extending north across the Peninsula to Lake Superior."

"In 1659 they were attached to the Mission of St. Michael together with the Menominee, Winnebago and others."

"In 1761 Jeffreys, probably on the authority of some recent French writer, says they were on the islands at the mouth of Green bay, formerly occupied by the Potawatomi."

"They were never prominent as a tribe and were probably absorbed by the Chippewa or the Menominee."

NO BAND OF LEAD—According to the best authorities Noka was the name of the Noke Indians, and it also referred to a clan or bear totem of either the Menominees or Chippewas—or both.

But Bay de Noc or Noquet does not mean "a band of lead" as so described in the 1949 Lure Book published by the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau.

Mrs. Jensen has, through her exhaustive correspondence, established locally the meaning and derivation of the name Bay de Noc so far as that is possible. To persons who live upon the shores of the Bay de Noc the subject is of more than academic interest.

"IT LOOKS LIKE THERE WILL BE AN ARGUMENT"

One of the readers of this column sent me several newspaper clippings, each containing a statement similar to "It looks like there will be an argument." She asked me for a rule that might apply to the use of "like" in such constructions.

In the past, grammarians had strong convictions about the use of "like." All admitted to its use as a noun—"Did you ever see the like?"—and as a verb—"John likes Mary"—but other proper uses were either as adjective or as adverb. An unmistakable adjective was "Men of like nature." An unmistakable adverb was, "Don't talk like that to me!" But if "like" could not be parsed as noun, verb, adjective, or adverb, then it was wrongly used.

The present tendency, however, is to grant that "like" is a preposition in such sentences as "John looks like his father"; "Mary dresses like her mother"; "He bats something like Babe Ruth"; "Don would like a beaver on the project." In these "like" has the sense of "similarly to; in a manner that resembles or is characteristic of."

However, it is my opinion that American grammarians will be again compelled to revise their rules through popular demand. The several columnists who wrote, "It looks like every spot on the ticket will be hotly contested"; "It looks like producer Arthur Freed will get the Irving Thalberg award"; "It looks like there will be an argument," are all experienced writers. Their writings certainly reflect present tendencies. "Let's all sing like the birdies sing."

Only one person in 300,000 is struck by lightning—but there's always that freshly waxed kitchen floor.

Sen. McCarthy Denied Recorder

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) failed Monday to get court permission to take testimony on a wire recorder in pre-trial hearings of his two million dollar libel suit against Senator William Benton.

Benton refused to testify at a hearing May 5 if a recording device introduced by McCarthy was used.

McCarthy then asked U. S. District Judge Walter Bastian to approve his use of the recorder, and today McCarthy appeared as his own lawyer to argue for his motion.

Bastian denied the motion, saying wire recorders never have been used to take testimony in the District of Columbia courts.

The suit is based on Benton's charges that McCarthy is unfit to serve in the Senate.

Another action, Bastian reserved decision on a motion by columnist Drew Pearson that McCarthy be required to answer questions put to him about his income in a different series of pre-trial hearings.

This was in connection with Pearson's five million dollar suit against McCarthy and others whom he accuses of conspiring to damage him professionally.

Pearson's motion also asked that three co-defendants of McCarthy be directed to answer questions they had refused to answer. They are Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune; Frank C. Waldrop, editor of the Washington Times Herald; and Don Surine, a former investigator for McCarthy.

Judge Bastian reserved decision in the case of these co-defendants also.

Two naval training ships have already visited the Escanaba port and the PCE 845, Navy patrol ship, will visit here July 19 and 20 and again on Sept. 27 and 28.

New Fascist Party Growing In Italy; Wins Large Cities

By STAN SWINTON
ROME —(AP)— A new Fascist movement, newly mated with Monarchists, was proving the explosive surprise in returns today from elections in a third of Italy's provinces and towns but the governing Christian Democratic party held control of Rome's city hall.

The Italian social movement (MSI) which venerates the memory of Mussolini and idealizes his corporate state, in league with wealthy Monarchists, won Salerno, where American soldiers fought a vicious World War II invasion battle to wipe out Fascism in Italy.

The same bloc won Naples, the great port which is allied headquarters for Southern Europe, and Bari, where U. S. arms aid pours into Italy. Foggia, great U. S. air force base during the war, also joined the Fascist column.

The MSI surged toward local power in other places in poverty-stricken, over-populated Southern Italy, and appeared to be challenging the Communists for the position of second biggest party in the country.

Truman Does Nothing To Halt Corruption, Says Sen. Ferguson

DETROIT —(AP)— Senator Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) says in an article written for the June issue of U.S.A. magazine that the Truman administration is "incapable and unwilling" to do anything about government corruption.

The magazine is published by the National Association of Manufacturers.

Ferguson captioned his article "How Deep Does Corruption Go?" He declared "We haven't even begun to dig into the barrel." He also charged that investigators had failed to scratch the surface in "waste, graft and favoritism" in foreign aid.

"Nothing has been done," Ferguson asserted, "to find out why, after spending fifty billion dollars on national defense from 1946 to 1950, we were woefully unprepared for a 'police action' in Korea when trouble commenced."

British Airliner Left Helpless At Edge Of Sahara Desert

LONDON —(AP)— A British airliner forced down 1,300 miles off course lay helpless today at the edge of the Sahara Desert while baffled air officials tried to figure how it wound up there.

Officials of the British Overseas Airways Corporation couldn't understand what their four-engine Hermes was doing on the west coast of Africa. It had left London with 18 persons bound for Nigeria in East Africa yesterday and wound up 1,300 miles off route on the edge of the desert.

A French rescue plane sighted the airliner in lonely territory some 170 miles southeast of the French West African town of Port Etienne last night. A French military airplane was close by, but the airliner's radio appeared to have been damaged.

Little Boy Drowned In Oxbow Lake As Mud Mires His Mother

PONTIAC, Mich. — (AP)— David Talley, 2½-years-old, drowned in Oxbow Lake before the eyes of his horrified but helpless mother yesterday.

David fell or jumped from a boat which had drifted from shore. His frantic mother, Mrs. Paul Talley, ran into the lake but mired down in the muddy bottom and had to be rescued herself.

She saw the desperately thrashing little David go down. His body was found two hours later.

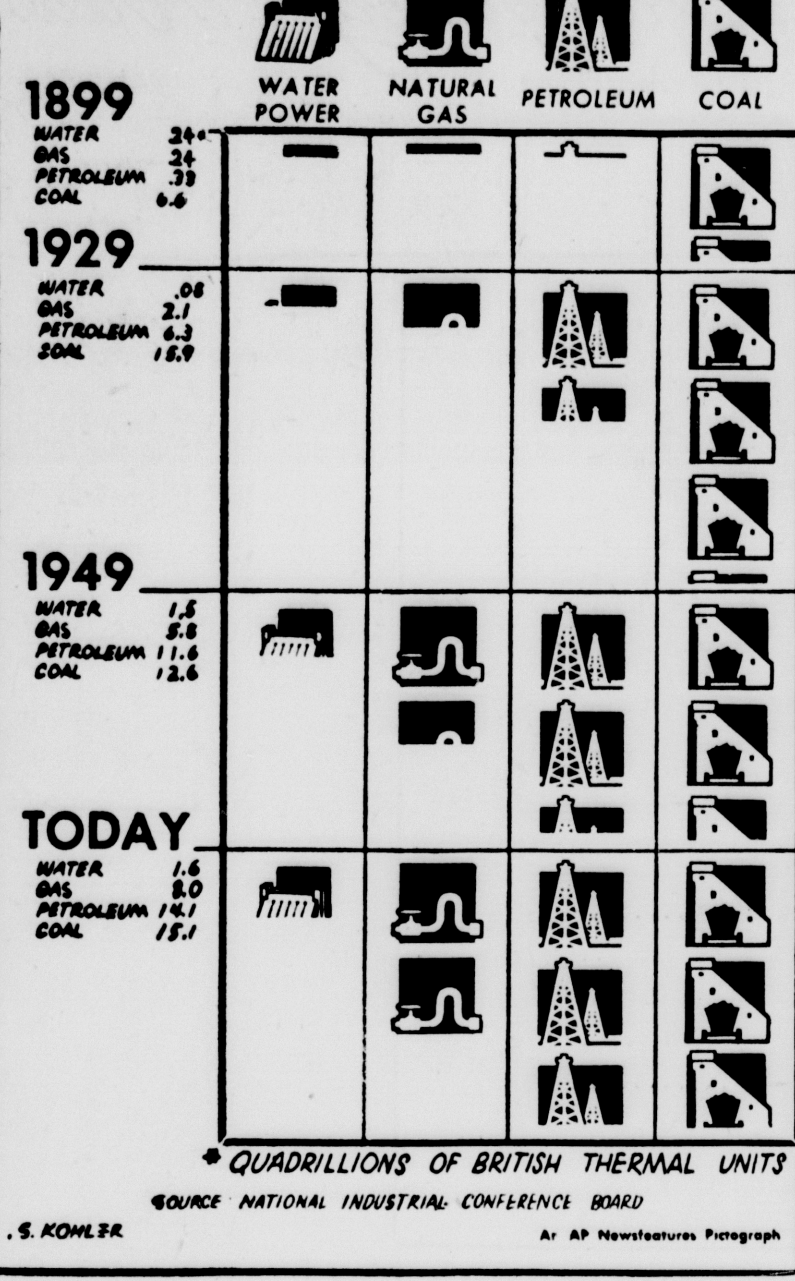

David had been playing on a beached boat near his home on the edge of Oxbow Lake, 12 miles west of here.

His mother heard him thrashing in the water and made her wild, but futile dash into the water.

Hospital
Joseph Louis Anderson, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Anderson, 1424 N. 20th St., was taken to St. Francis Hospital yesterday for an emergency appendicitis operation performed last night at 9:30. His condition today is fair but no visitors are permitted.

Newberry Student Heads MSC Alumni

EAST LANSING —(AP)— Carl Eicher of Newberry, Mich., was named president of the Alumni Association of the 1952 graduating class at Michigan State college last night.

Jaleen Rogers, Fulton, N. Y., was elected vice president and Sue Merriman, Manchester, Mich., was named secretary-treasurer.

Clare Lee Colegrove of Lansing, a junior this year, won a $100 award for outstanding scholastic achievement. Colegrove has a 3.97 average out of a possible 4.00 and has had straight "A's" except for a "B" in history one term as a freshman.

Wall Street

By T. E. APPLEGATE
NEW YORK — (AP)— Share prices lacked stimulus for a move in any direction in today's stock market.

A few issues achieved gains ranging up to as much as a dollar a share, but these were more than balanced by an assortment of narrow losses.

Despite a fairly active opening, the pace of trading held around its slowest of the year.

In the absence of decisive news developments, traders were inclined to withhold any commitments until after the approaching long holiday weekend.

The market will close Friday for Memorial Day and will remain idle Saturday, starting its short summer schedule.

Backward much of the day were Standard Oil (N. J.), Texas Co., Southern Railway, Santa Fe, New York Central, Kennecott Copper, Eastman Kodak, Woolworth, Edison and Douglas Aircraft.

Somewhat improved were Union Pacific (traded ex-dividend), Dow Chemical, Consolidated Natural Gas, International Nickel, Radio Corp., Goodyear, U. S. Rubber and American Smelting.

Better performers in the curb were Marion Power Shovel, Claude Neon, Brown Co., Kropp Forge and Rome Cable. Depressed were Woodley Petroleum, Taklan Royalty, Lakey Foundry, Alaska Airline, Air-Way Electric Appliance and Canada Southern Oil.

The corporate bond market tilted downward. U. S. government securities showed only narrow changes in over-the-counter dealings.

East Berlin Cut Off By Russians

BERLIN — (AP)— The Communists cut telephone communications between East and West Berlin and 17 long distance lines between West Berlin and West Germany today.

Eight telegraph lines also were shut down. Thus far, however, teletype communications between West Berlin and West Germany were not affected.

It appeared to be the first blow in the promised Communist reprisals for West Germany's signing of a peace pact with the Western Allies yesterday. West Berlin, 110 miles inside the Soviet zone, feared a renewal of the near-paralyzing Red blockade of 1948-49.

West Berlin telephone officials would not disclose how many land lines they still have open to West Germany but indicated the number is far in excess to the 17 shut down.

Allied officials said their communications lines still are operating normally.

Earlier today the Russian border guards again barred Allied military motor patrols from the city's only highway link with the West, the 10-mile autobahn to Helmstedt. The patrols, which aid stranded motorists, had been periodically banned between May 8 and May 17 but since then had not been troubled.

sentencing judges to override the State Patrol Board and parole convicts denied release by the board.

The Senate committee also approved an $80,000 grant to plan a $2,000,000, 200-bed building at the Ionia Hospital for the criminal insane to house insane convicts from the prisons.

While the Senate prepared to vote in these additional extensions to an already unbalanced budget, Senate leaders dropped plans to raise additional taxes in lieu of those Williams has vetoed.

Senator George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale), chairman of the Senate taxation committee, said he would bury $14,000,000 worth of new tax measures because Williams was quoted as saying he would veto them all.

VETO ITEM RESTORED
They included levies on beer, soft drinks, tourist accommodations and a revision of his twice-upset used car tax bill.

The Senate re-passed a duplicate of an earlier bill to require corporations to pay the higher franchise tax this summer. The previous bill failed to get immediate effect in the House, making it inapplicable until 1953, but Higgins said House Democrats had agreed to let it go into effect at once.

Bills appropriating $20,000 for an investigation of the prison riot and $340,000 to pay the "swamp tax" to northern counties out of the state general fund were passed by the House.

Democrats opposed providing additional funds for the prison investigation, contending it could be done within the regular appropriation to the department.

The swamp tax appropriation replaces a line item veto by the governor of an item appropriating the money from hunting and fishing license funds.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley H. Kennedy of Toledo, O., were recent visitors in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hoffman of Constantine, Mich., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Towce.

Truman Takes Rap At Utilities

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman lashed out at the private utilities Monday, asserting that they are spending millions in a drive to "frighten, threaten and confuse the people" about public power.

In a fiery speech to a conference of electric consumers, the president accused the utilities of spending vast sums on propaganda and advertising.

He said "the power monopolies" are taking part in a "barrage of propaganda."

Truman got a standing ovation from the adherents of public power, rural electrification and electric operatives when he told the group:

"I am the only person who represents the whole 155 million consumers."

"I'm their pull—I'm their lobbyist."

And, he went on: "Some time soon, when the whistle-stop campaign starts, I'm going out and give you all the facts about this power situation."

The president said he may ask the new attorney general to determine whether the utilities have violated the corrupt practices act.

Some of the companies, he said, have one set of figures on which they pay taxes and another set four or five times greater on which they fix their rates.

Ten Cherokees Perish In Blaze Started By Bolt Of Lightning

TAHLEQUAH, Okla. — (AP) — Ten Cherokee Indians perished in flames touched off by a bolt of lightning during a violent thunderstorm.

The members of two families, nine of them children, burned to death when their three-room frame building was consumed by fire in a matter of minutes. A witness said the hut "seemed almost to explode. It went up like a torch."

Mrs. Dorothy Scott, about 30, died in a hospital shortly after four of her children and five more belonging to a sister-in-law, Mrs. Eunice Scott, lost their lives in the pre-dawn tragedy.

Runaway Scott, husband of the dead woman, was hospitalized along with his only remaining child, Edward, 3. The oldest child was 7.

Scott said he first fled in panic when the bolt struck, and later had time only to pull his wife and son from the inferno. His sister, Mrs. Eunice Scott, was away at the time.

Pink-Eyed Hen Lays 10 Eggs In Hour At Cudworth, England

CUDWORTH, Eng. — (AP) — A prolific pink-eyed hen named Jennifer had Britons claiming a new world's record today—10 eggs in less than one hour.

Jennifer's owner, farmer Charlie Rogers, said she hadn't produced an egg for days and looked "a bit off color." So he brought her into the house yesterday and made her comfortable in front of the fire.

Then things began to happen. The eggs came popping out at five-minute intervals. Charlie got worried and summoned two neighbors and the village postman to stand by.

The Royal society for the prevention of cruelty to animals declared that by all rights Jennifer should have died of peritonitis and sent a veterinary to look her over. The vet said she seemed to be doing fine and her output looked like a record to them.

Boy Shot In School Keeps Quiet To Save Trouble For Friend

LONDON — (AP)—A 13-year-old boy who didn't want to get his friend in trouble sat stoically through the morning session at school yesterday and then staggered home to tell his mother he had been shot.

The bullet had been fired accidentally from an old German luger brought to school by one of Edward Wilson's classmates. A desk cover hurriedly slammed down over the pistol caused it to fire. A startled teacher confiscated the gun but couldn't find the bullet or anyone injured.

At the noon recess, however, Mrs. Nellie Wilson found her son had walked the half mile home with his trouser leg smeared with blood. He said he didn't want to say anything in school because there might be trouble.

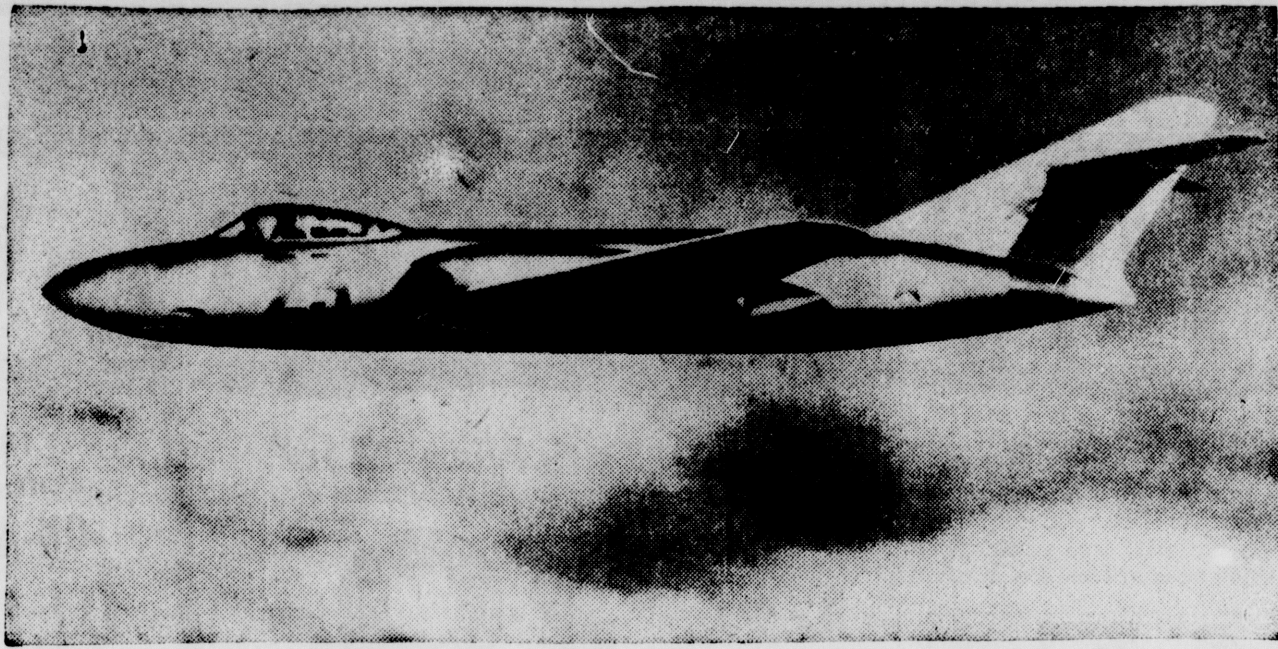

Edward was taken to the hospital to have the bullet removed from his leg.

'Save America' Fight Urged By E. L. Pearce

"It is doubtful that ever in our national history have we been beset with more difficulties than we are now—difficulties at home and abroad. We are, in fact, going through the most critical time in our national history," said Ernest L. Pearce, Marquette banker, in a talk Monday to the Escanaba Rotary Club.

Pearce is executive head of the Union National Bank in Marquette, a past president of the Michigan Bankers' Association, and a charter member and past president of the Marquette Rotary Club.

Businessmen are anxious and confused over what to expect next from government.

Freedom At Stake
"They have had startling revelations in recent months showing a moral disintegration taking place in many phases of government activities," Pearce said. "They have heard the present age spoken of as the 'Age of Chiselization.'"

There is a grave peril confronting the United States and the world, he added.

"The struggle in the world today is between state control and the voluntary society; between free enterprise in which the individual is free to exercise a choice, and a planned economy in which bureaucracy does our planning for us, and in which there is no freedom of choice."

He called for Americans to "become articulate in this great and basic struggle for economic freedom and individual liberty" and to defend "plain old-fashioned everyday Americanism."

Know The Facts
Pearce quoted Abraham Lincoln's words of 87 years ago: "Let the people know the facts and the country will be saved."

"But getting the facts to the people and having them accepted as a basis for action has become progressively more difficult through the years," he added.

Communism has served to "confuse facts with falsehoods," Pearce pointed out. "The avowed American Socialists by using half-truths have invaded many immature minds, especially among the young."

One of the forces creating hostility toward facts is the "collectivist movement" whose "leaders are the economic planners, or more correctly described as disguised Socialists."

Materialism Versus God
"They are trying to persuade us that in exchange for various material benefits from the government—such as subsidies, money grants and special privileges (at all taxpayers' expense) we would not hesitate to give up a little bit of freedom here and there."

"This is the same materialism basically that motivates Communism and Socialism."

"Make no mistake, it is powerful. It clashes head-on with the spiritual values in Christianity, yet it has won enough naked physical force, in Russia and her satellites, to have already conquered and enslaved a third of the world's population," Pearce said.

One reason the movement has been slowed in America is the inescapable fact of our unmatched standard of living, plus the Christian origin of our people who held "spiritual freedom above material well-being."

The American System
God-denying Communism will never prosper in America if the people of the United States understand the threat and fight for their country against the forces of totalitarianism, Pearce believes.

"The American system stands for freedom, independence, ambition, incentive, thrift, industry, intelligence, opportunity, and productive achievement by the individual citizen."

"It means solvency at all levels. It means spending less than you take in and thereby accumulating capital and savings. It means a nest egg for a rainy day. It means intelligent provision by your own efforts—not by government dole for old age and for those dependent upon you," Pearce said.

He called upon Americans to fight Communism from within and without, and warned against becoming "so complacent and lulled into such a state of false security that we can become weak from within."

Single Compensation Carrier Proposed On White Pine Project

LANSING — (AP) — The Senate was asked today to vote a special method of handling workmen's compensation for 1,200 men expected to be employed in the $57,000,000 White Pine Copper Company iron ore development in Ontonagon county.

A group of legislators headed by Senator Leo H. Roy (R-Hancock), filed a bill to allow one insurance company to carry the workmen's compensation for 50 to 60 subcontractors expected to participate in the project.

State law now requires each contractor to carry his own compensation coverage.

Roy said that because of the size of the project and its isolated location the usual procedure will be too complicated.

He said a single carrier would permit a compensation claim agent, medical service and safety facilities to be operated at the site of the development, eliminating confusion and providing greater service to workmen employed on the job.

The game of "Seven Up" is the card sharp's favorite since it is the easiest at which to cheat.

Building Begun On U. M. Campus

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(P)—Construction of the first building on the University of Michigan's new 267 acre north campus is under way.

Ground was broken for the Cooley Memorial laboratory in a ceremony attended by University regents. President Harlan Hatcher said the building will give "recognition to the University's policy of education, research and service." Regent Roscoe O. Bonisteel turned the first spadeful of earth.

Dr. Hatcher estimated the cost of the building will be about $975,000, including landscaping and equipment. It will be a memorial to Mortimer E. Cooley, former dean of the college of engineering.

The regents, at their May meeting, approved 17 appointments to boards, committees and councils. Gifts and grants totaling $146,389 were accepted. The grants included $90,000 from the social science research council of New York City to the University's survey research center towards the cost of non-political and non-partisan research on political behavior.

Two four-year terms, ending May 31, 1956, on the board in control of intercollegiate athletics were filled. Prof. Gardner Ackley was appointed to succeed Prof. H. C. Carver and Prof. Robert H. Sherlock was appointed to succeed himself.

Dr. A. D. Robinson of Detroit was appointed as an alumni member of the board for a three year term to expire May 31, 1955. He succeeds Goodloe Rogers of Pontiac who has served the two consecutive terms which are permitted.

A special committee was authorized by the regents to continue discussions with a Michigan Press Association committee on opening regent meetings to the press. The committees had a luncheon meeting yesterday. The two groups said other meetings will be arranged.

Oscar Awarded To Ken Lowe

GAYLORD, Mich.—(P)—Awards for outstanding contributions to conservation were made last weekend by the Michigan Outdoor Writers' Association in newspaper, radio and magazine fields.

A bronze "Oscar" was awarded to Ken Lowe, outdoor editor of the Marquette Mining Journal, for general excellence in the newspaper field.

Don J. Stone, outdoor editor of the Midland Daily News, received the award in the photography division for a series on the proper use of firearms.

In the radio and television field, the award went to the Michigan Association of Broadcasters for its campaign among members to promote forest fire prevention programs.

This award was made to Dan James of Weld, Battle Creek, president of the association.

Burl M. Hendershot, editor of the Michigan out-of-doors magazine of the Michigan United conservation clubs, received the award in the magazine field.

A special citation was given the Bay City Times for its annual edition devoted to forest fire prevention.

James A. O. Crowe, Associated Press outdoor writer, was re-elected president; Berkeley Smith, editor of the Iosco County News, vice president, and Cliff Ketcham, editor of Michigan Conservation magazine, secretary-treasurer.

Named to the board of directors were Ray Voss, outdoor editor of the Grand Rapids Herald, and Harold Bastien, outdoor editor of the Flint Journal.

Experiments are being made with paper from bamboo.

Strong Tourist Season Likely

MARQUETTE — One of the longest, and possibly the most successful tourist seasons is in prospect for Upper Michigan.

That's the way veteran resort and travel officials judge the outlook as the region prepares for the annual influx of summer visitors that hits a high pace about Memorial Day and continues well into September.

Northbound traffic into the Upper Peninsula already is at a high level. Many cars with out-of-state licenses are seen in most communities.

Indications are for a much warmer season, following near-record temperatures in April and early May.

In fact, the entire northern Great Lakes area stretching from Duluth, Minn., across Wisconsin and Upper Michigan to Sault Ste. Marie and including the Ontario country north of Lake Superior—is looking forward to a longer and better travel season this year.

Ferry Traffic Higher

Unusual high temperatures this spring caused many resort operators to open earlier than usual. Flooded waters in streams disappeared rapidly and brought trout fishermen on the run.

More cars crossed the Straits of Mackinac (the most reliable barometer of travel into the Peninsula) from January 1 to May 15 of this year than ever before in the 30-year history of the state ferry service.

The ferry office at St. Ignace reveals that 95,388 cars were transported during the first four and one-half months of 1952, an increase of 16 percent over the 82,037 carried during that time in the record year of 1951. There's reason to believe traffic at the Straits will continue at that high level.

With the big "Vacationland" ferry augmenting the regular fleet of vessels that travel between St. Ignace in the Upper Peninsula and Mackinaw City in Lower Michigan, the possibility of a traffic bottleneck at the Straits is practically eliminated. The "Vacationland" carries 150 vehicles on a shorter route between those two cities.

Increased Patronage Seen
Given the early-season break in weather welcomed by resort operators, it's more than possible that the Upper Peninsula resort and travel industry will do as good or even better than was reported by operators in Florida, California and New Mexico during the past winter season. Increased patronage from 10 to 20 percent above any previous year was enjoyed in those states.

"Resort operators have taken care of their spring housecleaning and all are prepared to receive guests," George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, said.

About 212,000 cubic feet of water a second flow over Niagara Falls.

SMALL SHEEP
The Isle of Man's four-horned sheep are known as Loaghlans, or mouse-colored sheep. They live on the hillsides, where the soil is very poor, and, consequently, are small in stature.

A Creed For Free Enterprise

By Clarence B. Randall

Good Conversation, Good Reading Held Vital to Forming Opinions and to 'Meet the Challenge of Socialism'

(This is the last of twelve articles based on a forthcoming Atlantic Monthly Press-Little, Brown & Co. book, "A Creed for Free Enterprise," by Clarence B. Randall, president of Inland Steel Co.)

XII—The Business of Thinking

As I look over what I have written, I am led to wonder how it is that the opinion a man holds about any particular subject comes into being. For the most part the origins of an idea must be buried too deeply in one's background of environment and education for the faint beginnings to be discernible but that is not always true. Sometimes in a letter, during a business conference, or even in a chance conversation on a train you suddenly face up to a new problem, and if while the mood is on you say or write something apropos, you have formed an opinion. Chances are you have locked yourself in on it, too, but from then on you build on a foundation, the cornerstone for which was laid at a particular time and place.

Good talk with keen minds is essential to the development of an orderly set of opinions, and that is a working tool that is rather hard to come by in business. The occasions on which we sit quietly with our feet up and our hair down exchanging observations with men like ourselves, and covering subjects other than the urgent one for which we may have come together, are not frequent. The pace is too hot, or so we think.

"Saying Things in Private"

Yet, saying things in private is the best possible preparation for saying them in public. When you try out a newly-formed opinion on a group of mercenary friends, the fat gets trimmed off it in short order, and thereafter you feel much safer in exposing it to an audience who can't talk back. And each time you say it new implications develop in your mind, and you strengthen it by documentation that had escaped you earlier.

As you shave in the morning, or drive to work in your car this new idea that you have acquired keeps coming back to your mind, and you embroider it. You think of the answer you should have made to your friend who was so critical of it, and more and more you become convinced that you were right and that he was wrong. And thus opinion is formed. All that remains is to give it currency so that it may have a part in forming general opinion.

Good reading is as important as good talk, both as a corrective on tentative opinions already held, and by way of enticing one's mind to follow altogether new avenues of thought.

But good reading is likewise hard to achieve in a busy life. The great mass of factual material that each of us must wade through in a day in order to keep abreast of what is going on in our field of primary responsibility leaves us at evening physically and mentally so weary that even the paper will drop from our hands as we nod. But some of our indifference to books is habit of mind.

"Mental Discipline"

With our stylized recreation, and our effortless forms of entertainment, we may be losing some of the mental discipline required to be stimulated by a good book, but we must recapture that quality if as business men we are determined to re-establish leadership by the soundness of our opinions. That is one miracle that not even television can perform for us.

Above all we need the spirit of high adventure in our business thinking. This is a magnificent time in which to live. History is being made for all time.

Vast ideas are on the march, and the air is heavy with excitement. Nothing has yet been decided with finality, and whoever wishes to strike a blow for the things he believes in may still enter the battle. In fact, the break may be at hand.

This is no last-ditch struggle, no rear-guard action for free enterprise; actually the counter-charge may even now be forming which will deliver the final blow for our side.

As happy warriors, let us meet the challenge of socialism. Each man in his place, each voice lifted in confidence, each so living that none can fail to admire, let us cause our faith in free enterprise to come alive in the hearts of men everywhere by the compelling quality of our achievements for the common good.

Rural Teacher Stays On Job For 47 Years

CORNING, N. Y. — (AP) — A 64-year-old rural school mistress has won her fight to continue teaching 20 youngsters and plans to join them today on their annual student-teacher picnic.

Miss Ruby Johnson was dismissed last Tuesday for what the school board called physical incompetence.

But Superintendent Calvin U. Smith yesterday informed Miss Johnson that the padlock had been removed from the door of the one-room school and that the white-haired teacher would be allowed to finish out the school year.

"I really thought I was licked for a time there, but I wasn't going to give up," Miss Johnson said. "I only have three more years to go for my pension."

Smith was unavailable for comment. Miss Johnson has been teaching for 47 years.

Doped-Up Prowler Makes $7,000 Haul In Detroit Robbery

DETROIT — (AP) — An armed, "doped up" prowler stole more than $7,000 in cash and jewelry from a home here Sunday night, terrorizing his victims with death threats.

The robbery was at the studio apartment of Bruce Hunter, commercial artist whose 11-year-old son, Duane, achieved fame as a race track bet winner last year. Some of the prowler's loot reportedly included race track winnings of the father.

Hunter, 40, told police he discovered the prowler in the apartment while at work with two associates.

He said the man was a Negro and that he had patches of tape on his fingertips and stockings pulled over his shoes.

"His eyes were staring and his hands trembled and he acted as though he was doped up," said one of Hunter's co-workers, Gordon Mix.

Army Decorates 4 Dead Heroes

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government bestowed Monday, post-humously, its highest military decoration upon four Army infantrymen who died fighting valiantly in Korea.

Presentation of the Medals of Honor to relatives of the four heroes was made in a ceremony at the Pentagon, with Secretary of the Army Frank Pace making the awards in behalf of President Truman.

The awards bring to 49 the number of Medal of Honor decorations for Army men in the Korean war. Indicative of the fierceness of the fighting and the courage of the winners, all but a handful of them are dead or missing.

Two of the men cited died covering comrades falling back under heavy enemy attack. Another died in a courageous attack on an enemy stronghold. The fourth gave his life to save others from exploding grenades.

Cpl. John Essebagger, 22, from Holland, Mich., made a lone advance against attacking Communist troops to delay their attack until his outfit could withdraw. He walked deliberately toward the oncoming Reds and their slashing fire, inflicting heavy losses on them until he himself fell mortally wounded. His widow was asked to come and receive his medal.

Other recipients are Pfc. Herbert K. Poillillau of Hawaii; Capt. Edward C. Kryzykowski, of Cicero, Ill., and Pvt. Billie G. Kanell, 20, Poplar Bluff, Mo.

Secret Papers Bare Roosevelt Offer Of Battleship To Russia

WASHINGTON—State department papers taken off the secret list over the weekend disclosed that the year before World War Two started President Roosevelt approved selling Russia plans for a 62,000-ton battleship.

Roosevelt had been told military secrets were not involved. The plan fell through when Russia turned the deal down.

The papers also showed that: 1. Soviet Russia tipped its hand early in its official relations with this country by breaking two of its first agreements.

2. William C. Bullitt, first U. S. ambassador to Soviet Russia, reported when he left Moscow that it would be useless to hope for genuine friendship from Soviet Russia or any Communist individual.

3. The Russians apparently attempted to listen in through tapped wires and a microphone on U. S. embassy conversations in Moscow.

Hidden 15 Years

The state department opened its archives after a time lag of 15 years.

The Soviet government tried to buy the battleship plans from Gibbs & Cox, New York naval architects. The ship as projected would have been armed with 18-inch guns, making it more powerful than any American man-o-war then afloat.

Among the 1,000 documents released by the department was a long memorandum from Secretary of State Hull and Secretary of the Navy Charles Edison to President Roosevelt about the battleship plans. The memo was dated June 8, 1938. The memo as published quoted marginal notes by Roosevelt, giving his approval for transferring the plans.

Roosevelt added that if the ship was built for Russia in this country it would have to be no larger than 45,000 tons, to conform to existing treaties.

The Hull-Edison memo said the battleship plans would not disclose military secrets and their sale would not violate any law.

The papers showed that American naval architects took the plans to Russia, but that in December, 1938, Russia decided on a conventional battleship of 16-inch guns.

Old Debt Unpaid

The wire-tapping discovery was reported on Aug. 10, 1937, by Loy W. Henderson, now ambassador to Iran and then a Moscow embassy secretary. He said wires had been found fixed to a wall near the desk of Ambassador Joseph Davies, and that a microphone was found later. A member of Davies' domestic staff, long under suspicion, was discovered in an attic where the wires led.

The papers said that when the United States recognized Soviet Russia in 1933, Russia agreed to settle American claims of about a billion dollars, hanging over from Czarist days. But the settlement was never made. Hull commented, "Litvinoff won his victory when he obtained recognition, and regards everything else as of minor importance."

Another document said that when Stalin welcomed Bullitt as the first American ambassador to Soviet Russia, Stalin promised a favored site for a new U. S. embassy in Moscow. Later the Russians hedged the plan with so many restrictions it could not be carried through.

FIRST SUFFRAGIST

Woman suffrage first spoke in America in Maryland, in 1647, when Mistress Mary Brent, heir of Lord Calvert demanded a place in the legislature of the colony as an extensive property holder.

The Minority Rules, Too!

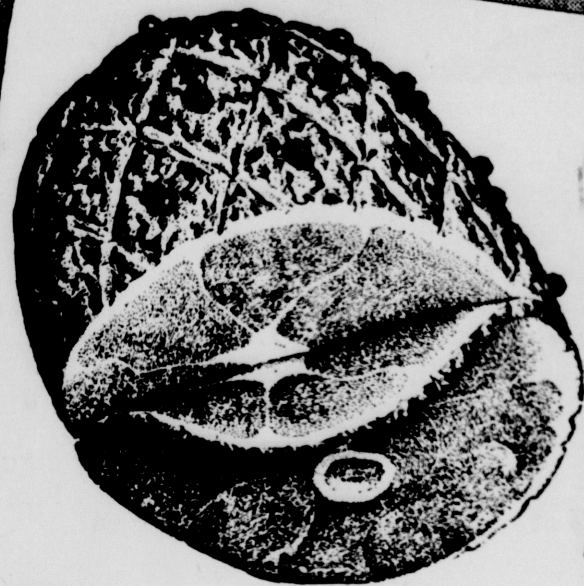

Thousands of letters have come our way since we first invited our friends to tell us what they thought of A&P.

It is gratifying to report that the majority of them have been complimentary. And it did our hearts good to receive them. But since we make it our business to try to please all the people all the time, it's the minority group—those who have made suggestions or criticisms—that we're most concerned with.

We assure you, each and every one receives our attention, for we're doing our best to make everybody who shops at A&P happy.

This is one business where the majority and the minority rule. If you have any criticisms or suggestions on how we can better serve you, please tell your friendly A&P manager.

Feuding Families Should Forget, If Romance Blooms

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.

When two people quarrel, it is natural that the family of each person should side with their own relative and harbor a grudge against not only the offender but also against the family of the offender. Family pride and loyalty make a family stick together in times of trouble. How long such funds will last and how many people they will affect is the problem that is bothering the person who wrote:

(Q) "If people have a bitter disagreement and do not see each other any more, and if later their grown children meet socially or marry into the same family, is there apt to be any bitterness between these young people, knowing of their parents' feeling? Knowing that the children of these people are absolutely innocent, will the bitterness be overcome? Or would there be no feeling of unfriendliness between the young people?"

(A) A family feud is an unpredictable affair. You never know how far its influence will reach or how long it will last. It depends so much upon the feelings of the people involved.

It also depends upon the cause of the trouble. If one person swindled another out of some money and this meant hardships for the person who was swindled and for his family, there would likely be a bitterness that would be hard to overcome in that or the next generation of the family.

If, however, the bitterness came from a more trivial cause, such as one girl's luring away a boy her best friend liked, then mature people ought to realize that no question of morality was involved and that all should be good sports on the grounds that "all is fair in love and war."

However, people do not always react in a mature and sensible manner. Therefore, if it is apparent that bitterness exists between the parents of these young people, it would be wise for them not to become serious about one another unless they want to have a difficult situation on their hands.

While it is true that young people do not marry the family of the person they love, it is also true that the family of that person has a strong and lasting influence on the young person's attitudes and behavior. There is where family feuding will have its weight.

Dr. Hurlock will help you with family problems. Write her in care of this newspaper.

Proper Respect To Flag Urged

In cooperation with a nationwide effort to encourage more patriotic respect to the Stars and Stripes, Manistique veterans organizations are urging local citizens to observe proper flag etiquette during Memorial Day services next Friday morning, May 30.

The flag will be prominently displayed at the head of the Memorial Day parade and also will be flying during other phases of the observance.

Proper flag etiquette as the colors pass in parade includes the following simple regulations:

Persons in uniform should give military hand salute.

Men in civilian attire should remove hat with right hand and hold it at left shoulder, with the hand over the heart.

Women should salute by placing right hand over the heart. Men without hats should do the same.

Persons seated in cars should get out of cars and give the proper flag salute as the colors pass.

All flags in the community should be flown at half mast until noon Memorial Day.

Quarterbackers To Install Officers Monday Night, June 2

New officers will be installed at a meeting of the Manistique Quarterback Club on Monday evening, June 2, it is announced.

The meeting will be held at the Paul Bunyan Cook Camp and will be preceded by a dinner.

New officers are John Matthews, president; Philip Villemure, secretary; and Seb Rubick, treasurer.

The program also will include a speaker and numbers by a quartet from Crystal Falls.

OES Has Annual Event Tonight

Hiawatha Plans School Building

A special meeting of the Hiawatha township Board of Education is scheduled for 8 tonight to draft plans for bond issue and millage increase proposals in connection with the projected construction of a new elementary school building, it is announced. The meeting will be held at the Manistique Heights school. William J. Shealan, county attorney, will be present to discuss legal phases of the proposals.

Tentative plans for the proposed school building have been drawn by Harry Gjelsteen, a local architect. Planned is a four-room building of cinder block and brick construction to accommodate children from the kindergarten to the eighth grade, inclusive. Classrooms will measure 28 by 30 feet, according to tentative plans. The building, of on floor construction, also will be provided with space for a steam heating plant and other necessary service facilities.

Estimated cost is $80,000. A special election is tentatively planned for July at which time township voters will pass on twin proposals of floating a bond issue and raising the millage.

Ice on the roadway will be no barrier to motor vehicles equipped with a new melting device. With it, flaming gases hit the roadbed just ahead of the driving wheels. Lighting the burners, control of the flow of gas, and the direction of the resulting flames are made by the driver without leaving his seat.

Many artificial lights are deficient in the blue end of the spectrum. will be taken up at this time. A good attendance is requested.

One of the best performances at the Upper Peninsula track and field finals at Houghton Saturday was turned in under the most difficult of circumstances. Eben's crack half-mile Vartti came within six-tenths of a second of the Upper Peninsula Class D-E record for the distance. And he ran most of the distance with only one shoe. Vartti lost his shoe as he sped around the first turn and ran about 600 of the 880 yards in his bare foot. The muddy track kept all times low, but his 2:12.3 time was still very close to the 2:11.7 record set by Frederick Blowers of Nahma in 1941.

Munising's Frank Stimac has established himself as just about the best dashman in Upper Peninsula Class C circles. Stimac set the current U. P. 100-yard dash record, 10.6, in 1950 as a freshman. And Saturday he copped both the 100 and the 220 dashes in the finals meet.

Pony League baseball has not yet reached the vast proportions of its forerunner, Little League. But it's getting there. Recently announced figures reveal that there are 125 Pony Leagues throughout the country. Four of the new leagues are in the Chicago area. Escanaba's Pony League reaches an early climax this evening when managers bid for players at the first annual player auction at Club 314. The name of the program, incidentally, is derived from the first letters of the slogan "Protect Our Nation's Youth."

Soo's U. P. track championship won at Houghton Saturday was the first for the Blue Devils since 1945. Wakefield had never before won the Class C crown and it was also the first time for Pickford in Class D-E. Escanaba's last U. P. title came in 1943. The Eskymos were also champs in 1941 and 1942.

Tigers To Play Cellar Dwellers

CLEVELAND — (AP)—Detroit's cellarite Tigers take on Cleveland's league-leading Indians here tonight. Prospects are none too bright, especially with Bob Lemon pitching for the Indians.

But there's one bright spot ahead of the Tigers. They meet the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National league in an exhibition game in Pittsburgh July 21—and the victor will get a pennant, the only one either is likely to get this year. They're playing a charity game for the Pittsburgh Green Pennant fund.

The Pirates are in the National league cellar, 19½ games behind the leading New York Giants. Pittsburgh has won only 6 while losing 30. In comparison, even

Ennis, DiMaggio Lead Major League Batsmen

NEW YORK—(AP)—A steady stream of base hits by Del Ennis has moved the Philadelphia Phillies' muscular outfielder into the National League batting lead with a mark of 344.

Ennis, second last week, lost one point when he went five-for-15 but took the No. 1 spot when Brooklyn's Jackie Robinson slumped 20 points to 330.

The American League batting derby also underwent some changes. Boston's Dom DiMaggio picked up six points during the week to move into first place at 349, while last week's leader, Cleveland's Dale Mitchell, suffered a 27-point decline and fell to third with a 333 mark.

Whitey Lockman of the New York Giants went nine-for-21 and gained 19 points to climb into a second-place tie in the National League with Cincinnati's Joe Adcock at 333.

Eskymos Nip Gladstone 2-1 For 17th Straight Victory

The Escanaba Eskymo baseball team is finding the path to its second straight undefeated season loaded with obstacles, but a 2-1 victory over Gladstone here yesterday afternoon kept the streak intact.

For Coach Jim Rouman's Eskymos it was the 17th straight victory in a row. The string dates back to the 1950 season which the Eskymos concluded with a pair of wins over Ishpeming and Negaunee. Last year the Eskymos swept through eight games without a loss and this season they have seven wins to date.

Tight Pitching
Fans saw one of the tightest pitching duels on record here yesterday. Big Wayne Marmalick toed the Gladstone slab and choked the Eskymos off with a single hit, a one-bagger by Tippy Larmay. Southpaw Fred Boddy nearly matched that performance for the Eskymos, allowing only two hits.

A two-run inning provided the Eskymos with the victory margin.

They hit the jackpot in the third without a hit. Paul Davidson, safe on a fielder's choice, scored from third when Paul Gundersen rapped a grounder to shortstop Tom Moreau whose throw to the plate was not in time. Tippy Larmay scored the second run on Arnold Breitzman's long fly ball to left field.

LaPlant Scores

The Braves came back with one run in the fourth. Third baseman Lowell LaPlant, who had singled, scored on a passed ball.

Boddy had a big strikeout edge, fanning 14 Gladstone batters and walking two while Marmalick whiffed five and walked three.

Escanaba will be seeking its 18th straight win in the final game of the season Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Ishpeming.

Vulcan Tops Powers 6-3

VULCAN — The Giants Killers toppled Powers here yesterday, 6-3, in the battle for first place in the Little Seven conference.

Vulcan scored once in the first inning and was never behind as they counted six runs on six hits, including a triple by first baseman Duane Girard.

Powers reached pitcher R. Rossato for eight hits, including a triple by Bob Lawrence and a double by John Henderson. Ray Wells fanned eight in going the distance for Powers. Rossato whiffed five for Vulcan.

Kutches Is 'Midget' But Not Smallest On Northern Cage Squad

Pete Kutches of St. Joe is a midget among giants who will perform in the annual North-South high school cage classic at Murray, Ky., June 14—but he's not the smallest man listed on the North squad.

At five feet, nine inches Kutches has a height edge on Bill Ridley of Taylorville, Ill., who measures 5-7½. Ridley is the shortest man on either team. The North has another cager under six feet in the person of Robin Freeman of Hughes School in Cincinnati, Ohio, who is 5-11.

However, the Rebel squad, averaging 6-3 per man, and the Yankee team at 6-3 and a fraction, are well matched in average height. Clarence Francis of Wellsville, Ohio, at 6-9 is the tallest player on either side. Terry Rand, Green Bay East star, is the second tallest at 6-7¼.

Phillip Grawemeyer of Manual High of Louisville, Ky., tops the Southerners at 6-7, the same height as Jim Frary, Yankee from Shawnee, Kan., High School. Jerry Bird of Corbin, Ky., at 6-6, is the fifth tallest man on the two squads and the second tallest Rebel.

Only one player for the South is under six feet. He is Les Hohl from University of St. Louis High, standing 5-10½.

Three Northerners are 6-5ers. Bruce Brothers of Quincy, Ill., John Fannon of St. Thomas More of Philadelphia, Pa., and Tommy Heinsohn of St. Michael's of Union City, N. J.

One of the coaches of the North squad is John Novak, Eau Claire, Wis. The other North mentor is Roy Leening, Jersey City, New Jersey.

QUESTION: Who holds the American League single-season runs-batted-in record?

ANSWER: Lou Gehrig, 184 in 1931. To get the true worth of the great Yankee first baseman's batting prowess, there were at least 47 times when he came to bat with no chance to drive in a run, except by a homer, since Babe Ruth, batting ahead of him, cleared the bases with a mighty homer.

Q. How much did Connie Mack pay for Shoeless Joe Jackson's contract in 1908?

A. The Athletics' owner coughed up the princely sum of $325 to Greenville of the Carolina Association for Jackson, but the great outfielder played only a few games with Philadelphia before being sold to Cleveland.

Q. Who is generally identified as the greatest bucket-foot hitter of all time?

A. Al Simmons was known as the man who hit with his foot in the bucket, was one of the most pronounced front-foot pullers the majors have ever seen. The Athletics' fine outfielder finished with a lifetime average of .324 after 21 seasons.

Last season Ford Hanover, the trotter, won 11 straight races including the $68,000 Kentucky Futurity.

Top Teams Win In Association Race

(By The Associated Press)
Milwaukee, Kansas City and Louisville clung to their 1-2-3 spots, only 1½ games apart, in the hot American Association race Monday night.

The Milwaukee Brewers showed 19 hits to breeze to a 10-6 victory.

Two Kansas City bonus stars led the Blues to a 15-4 trouncing of St. Paul.

Louisville, for the fifth time this season, linked up a three-game winning streak with a 5-2 decision over Columbus.

Toledo was unscheduled while Indianapolis lost a 6-4 verdict to the Cleveland Indians in an exhibition as Pete Reiser broke a 4-4 tie with a two-run ninth-inning homer.

The Clairmont Nationals buried Escanaba Township 25 to 4 in the opening softball game at Memorial Field last evening to provide the largest score of the new season.

White Birch edged Power & Light 6-5 in the nightcap. Wally Marenger sent the tying and winning runs across the plate with a fifth-inning double scoring Bob Marenger and Don King. Bob Marenger led White Birch with three hits, including a triple.

Leon Lancour and Francis Lancour shared pitching duty for White Birch. Eastman and Bob Corrievue were on the mound for the losers.

No Names spilled Westby's Service 13-7 in the middle game. Angie Hirn, No Names catcher, belted a pair of triples. Bob McCarthy went the route on the hill for the winners.

Myron Carlson started and was relieved by Ted Cavadeas in the sixth while Bill Mulvaney served behind the plate for Westby's.

Two Straight No-Hitters For New Mound Sensation

BRISTOL, Va.—(AP)—This baseball-wacky town never thought it would see the likes of Rocket Ron Neccia, the bullet-ball pitching phenom who struck out 27 men in hurling a no-hitter.

But six days after Neccia's departure from the Class D Appalachian league, folks hereabouts are raving over a new hurling wonder—Bill Bell.

The 18-year-old Bell achieved what is believed to be an all-time minor league record last night when he turned in his second successive no-hit performance.

The 6 ft. 2 in. righthander twirled his first no-hitter last Thursday—the night after Neccia, who fanned 109 in 42½ innings, pitched his last game for Bristol.

Bell whiffed 17 and drove home

Younger Bears Will Take Over

The Escanaba Bears will field a team of young high school players in most position this weekend.

Manager Jack Beck today announced that all players planning to join the Bears this weekend will meet at the city diamond this evening at 6:30. The high school season closes for Escanaba High School Thursday afternoon.

The Bears will be host to Wallace on Memorial Day and travel to Foster City for what will probably be a doubleheader Sunday afternoon. The Bears will try to get in a rained out game with Felch Sunday.

Manager Beck asked the following players, who filled in until the high school boys became available, to turn in their uniforms as soon as possible: Ed Gauthier, Charley Camps, Joe Ricci, Bob Dufour, Don Paulin and Ray O'Seen.

Gil Turner To Fight Gavilan

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — The eagerly-awaited Kid Gavilan-Gil Turner welterweight title fight is finally all set for July 7 at Philadelphia's Municipal Stadium.

Promoter Herman Taylor announced yesterday that he had reached an agreement with Angel Lopez and Fernando Belido, co-managers of Gavilan, the titleholder from Cuba, and George Katz, pilot of the unbeaten Turner who makes his home here.

The two fighters will sign contracts for the bout June 9 with the champion probably receiving 40 per cent of the net receipts and the challenger 20 per cent.

It will be Philadelphia's second title bout of the summer outdoor season. Heavyweight King Jersey Joe Walcott will place his title in the same Municipal Stadium ring for former champ Ezzard Charles to shoot at June 5.

The Philadelphia Inquirer Charities, Inc., will sponsor the welter fight.

Adcock Tops Sluggers With 66 Total Bases

NEW YORK—(AP)—Hard-hitting Joe Adcock of the Cincinnati Reds and Al Rosen, sparkplug of the power-laden Cleveland Indians, have the top slugging averages in the major leagues today.

Adcock, sidelined by a knee injury last Thursday, has collected 33 hits, good for 66 total bases, in 99 times at bat for a remarkable .667 slugging mark to lead the National league.

Slugging averages released by the Associated Press statistical bureau also revealed that Rosen, with five doubles, three triples, ten home runs and 85 total bases, is setting the pace in the American league with a .654 slugging percentage. Rosen has been at bat 130 times and has garnered 44 hits. Averages include games played last Sunday.

Total bases are figured on the basis of one for a single, two for a double, three for a triple and four for a home run. To compute a batter's slugging average the total times at bat are divided into the total bases made on all hits.

Hank Sauer, the big gun in the Chicago Cub's attack, is giving Adcock a run for National league slugging honors. The husky fly-chaser, the league's leading home run hitter with nine, ranks second with .603, a result of 82 total bases in 136 at bats. Hank also has come up with eight two baggers and a pair of triples.

Rosen's teammate, Larry Doby is runnerup in the American league. The Tribe outfielder, who was on the shelf with a perennial early season leg ailment, has come with a rush and his 24 hits, good for 46 bases, put him at .568.

Kiner Ailing
Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner, hampered by an aching back, will have to go a long way to come near his league-leading .627 slugging average of last season. Kiner, with only three home runs and 37 total bases, is floundering at the .370 mark. Ted Williams, the AL's leading slugger in 1951, donned a Marine uniform early this month.

The American league record for the highest slugging percentage in a season is .847, by Babe Ruth in 1920. Rogers Hornsby holds the NL mark of .756, established in 1925.

The slugging averages based on 75 times at bat:

Lockman Unsung Giant Hero

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)
It's high time Carroll (Whitey) Lockman, the New York Giants' unsung and often overlooked first baseman, began getting the credit he so richly deserves.

The colorless but dependable former outfielder from Charlotte, N. C., has been the most consistent of all the Giants this season. He leads the club with a .333 mark (second highest in the league), tops the circuit in runs scored and is third in total hits. Yet it is Bobby Thomson and Willie Mays and Sal Maglie and Alvin Dark who receive most of the acclaim for the Giants' tremendous early season showing.

The baseball world still remembers that it was Thomson who won the pennant for the Giants last year with his dramatic homer against Brooklyn in the final playoff game. Yet, how many recall that it was Whitey Lockman who made the situation possible with a double that knocked in the first run of the inning, kayoed starter Don Newcombe and put the tying runs on the bases?

Lockman Rides In

Again it was Thomson who proved to be the big run-producer last night as the Giants tangled with the Dodgers at the Polo Grounds for the first time since that fateful final playoff game. Bobby slammed a home run in his first time at bat and drove in three runs as the Giants whipped their interborough rivals, 4-2, to take over first place from the Dodgers by a half game.

But, like last year, it was Lockman who set up Thomson. The 25-year-old first baseman drew a walk in the first inning and rode in ahead of Thomson's homer. He walloped a 400-foot triple in the third and crossed the plate on Thomson's 400-foot fly. Then he iced the game in the fifth with a home run into the right field stands, his fifth of the season.

One Error

Whitey also starred in the field, accepting a dozen chances without a miscue. He has made only one error in 334 chances this season.

"He's the most improved player in the game," enthused his manager, Leo Durocher. "I'd say that right now he's as good a fielder as Gil Hodges of the Dodgers."

In other National League games the Chicago Cubs blanked the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-0, to solidify their hold on third place. Bob Rush pitched a six-hitter to register his sixth victory.

Ralph Kiner slammed a three-run homer, his fourth round-tripper of the year and his second in two days, to lead the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Trip Yanks

In the American League the Boston Red Sox thrashed the New York Yankees, 6-3, as Don Lohmeyer drove in five runs with a three-run homer and a two-run double.

Sid Hudson pitched and batted the Washington Senators to a 5-3 triumph over the Philadelphia Athletics. Hudson allowed nine hits and helped win his third game by driving in two runs.

Billy Pierce picked up a pair of victories as the Chicago White Sox swept two games from the St. Louis Browns, 10-5 and 6-2. The first game was the completion of the suspended game of April 20. Pierce was touched for nine hits in the regulation game but notched his fourth win against as many losses.

Rain washed out a scheduled night game between the Boston Braves and Phillies in Philadelphia. Cleveland and Detroit were not scheduled.

Fast Field Set For '500' Race

INDIANAPOLIS—A field that broke the track qualifying record four times will start Friday in the 36th annual 500-mile auto race at Indianapolis Motor Speedway.

The 33 starters averaged 135.504 miles an hour in the 10-mile qualifying runs that ended Monday.

Old-timers around the two-and-one-half mile track contended the limit was near last year when the field averaged 133.570 in the time trials.

Vets, Rookies

The mixture of veteran racers and young graduates of the hot rod and midget circuits wrecked four cars in the race preliminaries. There were no additions to the toll of 42 persons killed at the track since it opened in 1909.

Only Bayliss Levrett of Glendale, Calif., was seriously hurt in the crashes. That was May 10 and he immediately announced he was quitting after 19 years of racing.

Chet Miller of Glendale, Calif., was the fourth driver to crack the track qualifying record and his ride at 139.034 was almost an anticlimax. He had set a one-lap record of 139.6 miles an hour Saturday in a qualifying attempt stopped by engine trouble.

The qualifying record had been broken successively by Andy Linden of Los Angeles, Fred Agabashian of Albany, Calif., and Bill Vukovich of Fresno, Calif. Nineteen of the 33 qualifiers were Californians.

Alberto Ascari of Milan, Italy, driving a V-12 Ferrari, made the starting lineup.

Openings Filled

Seven drivers qualified on the last day of the trials. That filled the two open spots in the field and eliminated five earlier but slower qualifiers.

Bob Sweikert of Los Angeles and Travis (Spider) Webb of Dayton, O., were "bumped" from the lineup but made it again in other cars.

Tigers Still Talking Trade; Look At Hopp

CLEVELAND—(AP)—A Detroit-Boston trade that might involve as many as five players still is in the mill.

But other than to confirm "we're still talking," neither club currently will say anything.

There was much speculation regarding a Tiger-Red Sox deal when Boston was in Detroit May 18-19, but it died down quickly after the Red Sox came and went and nothing happened.

Speculation then centered on a trade possibly involving outfielders Hoot Evers and Johnny Groth of the Tigers and infielders Walt Dropp, Vern Stevens and Johnny Pesky of the Red Sox.

Detroit badly needs—in addition to a few base hits from anyone—a shortstop and a first baseman. The Red Sox are hard up for capable outfielders to go with Dom DiMaggio.

Here for a night game with the league-leading Cleveland Indians tonight, Detroit Manager Red Rolfe added fuel to trade talks.

"We simply have to have more punch in the lineup," Rolfe conceded, then added:

"We'll have to go out and try to get it, because there's no use any longer expecting that we can develop it from the players we have."

That caused some to speculate that Rolfe might now be willing to use one of his star pitchers—Arthur Houtteman, Virgil Trucks or Ted Gray—as trade bait.

Rolfe reportedly has balked in the past at any transaction involving his ace pitchers, but good pitching isn't what it'll take to solve the problems of the Tigers, now mired in the American League cellar 12½ games behind Cleveland.

Talk To Hopp

The fact that good pitching isn't enough was thoroughly demonstrated at Chicago Sunday. Trucks and Dick Littlefield gave up only four hits in the opener, which the Tigers lost, 3-0, and Houtteman and Billy Hoelt gave up only six in the second, which Detroit also dropped, 1-0.

At Detroit, General Manager Charlie Gehringer of the Tigers reported that he had talked with Johnny Hopp, a first baseman and utility infielder released outright recently by the New York Yankees.

Gehringer quoted Hopp as saying he liked Detroit and was interested in playing for the Tigers, but was considering several other offers. Gehringer said no deal was closed, but others pointed out that if the Tigers took on Hopp they would have to drop a player and that it would take until Wednesday to get waivers from other clubs on the man being dropped.

Hopp, now 35, has been in the majors 13 seasons and in six of those he hit more than .300. But in 46 games with the Yankees last season he hit only .206. He was given his release shortly after pulling a leg muscle.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK—(AP)—Never before within the memory of the current crop of baseball experts have so many low-hit games been pitched at this early stage of the big league campaigns. The boys in the press boxes are knocking themselves out trying for some explanation of the sudden dominance of the curvers.

Scarcely a day passes but some club is shackled with a one, two or three-hitter. There already has been a no-hitter, a double one-hitter, and so many other brilliant performances—several of them by comparatively obscure workmen—that the suspicion is inescapable that something is going on here. The hitters are getting their lumps.

It began back in the exhibition games, we recall. Pitchers nobody ever heard of before took turns confounding the game's best-paid sluggers. Little attention was paid at the time, for any expert worth shooting knows that the pitchers always are ahead of the hitters in the spring.

Readers were assured it was purely a temporary condition and were guaranteed the situation would sort itself out once the hitters found their eyes. Obviously, the pitchers failed to read it. They're all dreaming of 25 and 30-game seasons and are not interested in axioms.

It is customary in cases such as this to hault the baseball manufacturers on the carpet and demand to know what they have done to the official pellet. The only thing is, they always say the same, that they haven't done anything to their product since Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs except to up the price.

So we'll pass that and go on to another possibility—the weather. It seems more promising. This has been an unusually wet spring all around the big league circuit. Games have been rained out in painful numbers, and many have been played when the air was damp and the grass soggy and slow.

This could help the pitchers. Our information is that in damp, heavy air a curve gets a better bite and breaks just a little more sharply than on a bright, sunny day. Fast ball pitchers proverbially like to work under a cloud-bank, though we have heard this hotly disputed.

A slow infield cannot help being a boon to a pitcher. It enables his support to reach and make easy putouts on hard-hit balls which would have skipped through for base hits on a sun-baked diamond, as well as slowing up screamers to the outfield, once they land.

Whether the weather has contributed materially to the great pitching we will know soon enough. Some observers expect the hitters to take charge in the middle innings.

They could, however, be wrong, for there is at least one more possibility. Maybe there aren't as many good hitters around as there were even a few years ago. As manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees said the other day: "Maybe this ain't a hitters' league any more."

In support of the theory, a glance at the batting averages shows that the few established sluggers in each league still are getting their knocks and virtually dominate the standings. It is the newcomers who are finding things tough.

Don Brewer Gives 2 Readings Before Rotarians Monday

Two readings, "The Murder of Lidice" and "Deck of Cards" were effectively presented by Don Brewer, Gladstone high school student, before the Gladstone Rotary Club Monday noon at the Yacht Club.

The youth was one of seven Gladstone high school students to participate in forensic work this Spring.

O. H. Anderson, president-elect of the club, and Ted Brewer, will attend the district Rotary convention at Merrill, Wis., in June as delegates of the Gladstone club.

Two youths will be named to attend the Uthrotor sessions at Merrill. Supt. of Schools Wallace Cameron has been authorized to make the selections.

A. B. Ellingson spoke briefly expressing the hope that some way may be found of reactivating and revitalizing the Boy Scout Troop which has been sponsored by the Rotary Club for so many years.

Membership in the troop, always a leader in local Boy Scout work, is at a low ebb because of lack of leadership, he said.

Kipling, Stonington Post Softball Wins

Kipling thumped Trenary 13-2 and Stonington nipped the Lions 7-6 in softball league games played here last evening.

R. Maki and A. Maki made up the winning Kipling battery. Johnson and Heinen pitched with Kallio behind the plate for Trenary.

Sigrid and Anderson shared mound duty and Thorsen caught for Stonington. Cartwright and Mischeau were the losers.

Big Words Protect Cherished Chestnuts

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A Pennsylvania farmer whose orchard of Chinese chestnut trees was being damaged by carless hunters appealed for help some time ago to the agriculture department.

"What can I do," he wrote, "to protect my orchard?"

He was advised to post signs reading as follows:

"No trespassing: Warning: the dangerous castanea mollissima linnaeus abounds in this orchard. Beware."

The farmer has reported back, the agriculture department said, that he followed these instructions and that hunters are giving the orchard a wide berth.

"Castanea mollissima linnaeus" is the scientific name for the Chinese chestnut tree.

Although most turtles are nearly voiceless, some turtles can whistle, says the National Geographic Society.

Trinity Episcopal Church Marks 50th Anniversary

Trinity Episcopal Church of Gladstone observed the 50th anniversary of the consecration of the parish edifice Sunday with appropriate ceremonies.

The observance began with the celebration of Holy Communion at 9 in the morning by the Vicar, the Rev. Joseph S. Dickson. Anniversary services were also held in the afternoon at 3:30 and were attended by a large group of visitors from various parts of the diocese including Marquette, Manistique, Wilson, Escanaba, Nahma and Gladstone.

The choir from St. Stephen's Church, Escanaba, and visiting clergy opened the service with the processional to the chancel and choir stalls. Mrs. Claude LeClerc was guest soloist.

The Rev. John Alford of St. Paul's, Marquette, read the psalm and the Rev. James G. Ward, Escanaba, former vicar at Trinity, read the lesson. The Rev. Dickson gave an historical sketch of the early days in the parish and the diocese from records in the diocesan journals. One note on the signs of the times as reported by Bishop G. Mott Williams in 1902 was the difficulty keeping a clergyman in Gladstone because the cost of board was so high in Gladstone.

Principal speaker at the ceremonies was the Rt. Rev. Herman R. Page, D.D., Bishop of the Episcopal diocese of Northern Michigan. "It is a strange thing," said Bishop Page, "that we meet to remember the 50th year of a church when some of the keenest minds of our time are telling us that we are at the end of an age of civilization as we have known it. This plight has come about in large measure because the production of character has failed to keep pace with the production of industry and education."

"The concern of the church is with the production of character; not simply that people may be reliable, but that they may have courage and vision without fear or despair. Thus it is fitting to remember the 50 year mark of a church."

Following the church service, the women of the parish served a supper, buffet style, in the Guild hall, gaily decorated for the occasion with gold streamers and ribbons symbolizing the 50 years of the parish, an abundance of cut flowers and candlelight tables. The buffet was in the center and a tiered anniversary cake was a special attraction.

General chairman was Mrs. Henry J. Miller, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adams, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Aasve, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kliner, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Lawin, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Skogquist, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Wismer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clavage, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Norton and Miss Jean Miller.

Court Upholds Transit Radio

WASHINGTON—(P)—The supreme court Monday upheld transit radio broadcasts.

By a 7-1 vote the high tribunal decided radio broadcasts on buses and street cars do not violate the constitutional rights of passengers.

Justice Burton wrote the majority opinion.

Justice Douglas wrote a dissenting opinion which asserted: "If liberty is to flourish, government should never be allowed to force people to listen to any radio program. x x x The right of privacy, today violated, is a powerful deterrent to anyone who would control men's minds."

Justice Frankfurter said he took no part in the case because "my feelings are so strongly engaged as a victim of the practice in controversy that I had better not participate in judicial judgment upon it."

That meant the court majority, besides Burton, was composed of Chief Justice Vinson and Justices Black, Reed, Jackson, Clark and Minton.

The decision involved broadcasts heard here on street cars and busses of the Capital Transit company. The dispute attracted wide attention, however, because at least ten other cities have radio broadcasting on public vehicles.

The case was taken to the highest tribunal after the U. S. Court of Appeals here declared Capital Transit's broadcasts "deprived of passengers of liberty without due process of law" in violation of the constitution.

Dionne Quintuplets Graduate Wednesday; Too Busy For Boys

CALLANDER, Ont. — (P) — It will be graduation day next Wednesday for the Dionne quintuplets.

They will be 18 the day they receive their diplomas at a special ceremony in the playroom of their own home south of Callander. Nine other girls their age will graduate with them. Then the special school, Villa Notre Dame, will close for good.

Papa Oliva Dionne said his five famous daughters will attend some girls' college next year.

Boy friends?

The father said they have none — "They have been too busy to think about that sort of thing."

IT SHOULDN'T HAPPEN TO A DOG — "Pop" Pomeranian, left, doesn't approve of this "family" portrait. Seems that Mama Pomeranian just couldn't take care of their three new pups, and so an old Persian friend, with two kittens, took over the job. Everyone else at the home of Viola Van Dieman in Milwaukee is pleased with the arrangement.

He was inducted into the service in December of 1951.

Milwaukee Foundry Owner Is Elected President Of YMCA

DETROIT—(P)—The president of the National Association of Manufacturers now is also president of the Young Men's Christian Association. He is William J. Grede, Milwaukee foundry owner.

Grede was elected at the closing session of the YMCA's national council here Sunday. He succeeds Harper Sibley, Rochester, N. Y.

The council suggested a program to teach the basic differences between Communism and Christianity, to improve the practice of democracy in local, regional and national events, and to bring about a greater participation of Americans in world affairs.

The council approved a cam-

Governor Requests Federal Funds For Michigan Flood Loss

LANSING—(P)—Governor Williams has certified to President Truman that Michigan flood conditions are severe enough to warrant federal disaster assistance.

The governor asked U. S. Senator Moody (D-Mich) to personally deliver to the president a request for designation of Michigan's coast line as a flood disaster area and eligible for federal grants under the flood damage act of 1950.

Williams reported a survey shows the state already has suffered at least $26,000,000 in high water damage and that the toll may rise to $50,000,000 if water levels continue to rise and if severe storms occur.

State and local governments and private agencies already have spent $4,809,310 on flood control and repair projects.

Of the total damage, Williams said, $14,000,000 has occurred from paid for $1,770,000 to aid YMCA's in 78 countries and to meet emergency needs in Korea.

Cock Fight Raided Near Vassar, Mich.; 20 Under Arrest

VASSAR, Mich.—(P)—Aided by a reconnaissance plane, officers raided a cock fight near this Tuscola county village Sunday and arrested 20 persons.

The raid was at the farm of Loren Clappitt, where Sheriff George Jeffrey said he found 61 game birds, scales, betting tickets and score cards.

The sheriff said that from 75 to 100 persons were watching the spectacle at the time of the raid, but that all but the captured 20 fled into a nearby woods.

Preparing for the sortie, deputies William Tomlinson and Grant Ball flew over the Clappitt farm in a small plane to spy on the affair.

Clappitt was charged with operating a cock fight. The others were charged with attending one. All 20 were to be arraigned before Justice Bruce White of Vassar Wednesday. They were released without bond.

Sheriff Jeffrey said he was holding 53 live birds and 8 dead ones as evidence. The birds, he added, were valued at $50 to $500 apiece.

Jeffrey said $5 to $10 bets were being placed on the fights.
